Heavy Sea Running, and All Life Boats but Two Are Crushed by Waves.

STORY TOLD BY A SURVIVOR

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1904, by New York Herald Co.)

London, July 4.—An appalling shipping disaster, attended by the loss of more than 750 lives, occurred to the Danish emigrant steamer Norge, bound from Copenhagen to New York.

The catastrophe took place on Tuesday last on Rockall, a dangerous reef in the North Atlantic.

Out of a total of 800 souls on board, only 27 survived. These persons arrived at Grimsby yesterday on board the steam trawler Salvia.

When last seen the Norge was sinking where she struck on the islet of Rockal, whose isolated peak raises itself from a deadly Atlantic reef some 200 miles off the west coast of Scotland.

Early on the morning of last Tuesday the Norge, which was out of her course in heavy weather, ran on Rockall reef, which in the distance looks like a ship under full sail. The Norge was quickly backed off, but the heavy seas poured in through a rent in her bows.

The emigrants who were then awaiting breakfast below, ran on deck. The hatchways were scarcely built for these hundreds of souls and became clogged.

The Norge quickly began to go down by the head. Eight boats were lowered and into these the women and children were hurriedly put. Six of these boats smashed against the side of the Norge and their helpless inmates were caught up by the heavy seas.

Two Boatloads Got Away.

Two boatloads got safely away from the side of the sinking ship and many of the emigrants who were left on board, seizing life belts, threw themselves into the sea and were drowned.

Capt. Gundel, so say the survivors, stood on the bridge of the doomed vessel until it could be seen no more.

The Norge foundered suddenly and some 600 terrified emigrants were thrown into the water or drawn down with the sinking ship. Those who could swim tried to reach the boats, but these were already too full and their occupants beat off the drowning wretches with oars.

The boats kept together for some hours. Practically all of their occupants were passengers and were not used to handling such craft. The boat occupied by the survivors landed at Grimsby was a lifeboat.

One account says that three boats were successfully launched, the other two holding about 10 persons each. The lifeboat made faster progress and fell in with the Salvia. What became of the other boats is not yet known.

The rescue of those on the lifeboat took place at 8 o'clock on the morning of June 29, the survivors consisting of 20 men, one of them a seaman, six women and a girl.

One of the survivors said that when he got on deck the Norge was half submerged and was rapidly getting lower in the water. Half mad with fright the survivors all struggled for places in the boats. They fought their way to the big lifeboat and an officer stowed in the six women and the girl and then told the men to get in.

The officer then took charge and got the boat away from the side of the Norge. Seeing that the boat was already overladen the officer, with great heroism, jumped into the water and tried to board another boat which was not so full. He failed and was drowned.

In the sea by this time was a mass of struggling men, women and children, gasping and choking from the effects of the water. The boat rowed clear of this seething inferno and just as she drew away the Norge went down.

Peter Nelson, one of the survivors, described as a young American, said:

"For some hours we rowed in company with the other boats, but the strong tide drifted us away from the others and

20 SUPPOSED DEAD

Several Victims Are Burned to Death—Thirty-Eight Persons Are Injured.

STATEMENT MADE BY RAMSEY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Litchfield, Ill., July 3.—The St. Louis Limited express over the Wabash railroad, which left Chicago at 11:30 o'clock this morning, was wrecked in this place, 52 miles from St. Louis, at 6 o'clock this evening. Twenty persons, it is believed, were killed and 38 injured. The wreck caught fire and several persons were burned to death. Their screams were heartrending. Nine cars were burned. Many church people are among the dead and injured.

The wreck occurred at the coal mine, about one mile north of Litchfield. The train came around a curve and ran through an open switch and into some box cars on a siding. The water tank turned a complete somersault over on the engineer. Engineer Stanford of Decatur, Ill., and Fireman Neal of Litchfield, were burned to death.

Admiral Sends Belated Report of Victory at Port Arthur.

ONE IS TORPEDO BOAT

Other Victim of Attack is Guardship, Either Battleship or Large Cruiser.

GREAT ACTIVITY ON SEA

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Tokyo, July 3, 3 p. m.—A belated report from Admiral Togo records a desperate and successful torpedo attack at the entrance of Port Arthur last Monday night, June 27, in which a Russian guardship and a Russian torpedo boat destroyer were sunk.

The guardship is described as having two masts and three funnels. She was either a battleship or a cruiser, and she was torpedoed and destroyed. The torpedo boat destroyer was struck and then blew up and sank.

Admiral Togo reports the loss of one officer and 13 men killed and one officer and two men wounded. He makes no mention of damage to his fleet.

The Twelfth torpedo flotilla, under the command of Commander Yamada delivered the attack. The Japanese vessels were revealed by the Russian searchlights and the shore forts opened a heavy fusillade on them. The Russian guardship was surrounded and attacked by the Japanese, who saw this vessel sink amid huge volumes of water thrown up by heavy explosions. Following this the Russian torpedo boat destroyers at once attacked the Japanese vessels which responded to the onslaught. A Russian destroyer, while within the area lit up by the searchlights, was seen to explode, rise, fall back into the water sideways and sink.

The guardship sank near the base of Golden Hill.

The Vladivostok squadron eluded Vice Admiral Kamimura's squadron eastward of the island of Tsu Friday night in the darkness. A drizzling rain and fog favored the Russian vessels. The two squadrons met early in the evening, the Russians being north of Iki island and the Japanese south of Tsu island. They were 10 miles apart.

The Russians bolted to the northeast when they were discovered by Vice Admiral Kamimura. The latter chased them at full speed. The Japanese torpedo boats steamed ahead and entered within the range of the Russian guns. The Russian vessels vigorously shelled the Japanese torpedo boats. This firing explains the cannonading heard on Tsu island and gave rise to the belief that a general engagement was in progress. Vice Admiral Kaminura gained on the Russians and was only five miles in the rear when suddenly at 9 p. m. all the Russian vessels extinguished their lights and disappeared in the darkness.

JUDGE IN THE LEAD

Bryan's Attempt to Use Gorman Ruffles Marylanders—Nebraskan's Day Is Past.

BUT HE WILL DIE FIGHTING

By HENRY J. FORD.
(Staff Correspondent.)
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Louis, Mo., July 3.—The general situation may be summarized by saying that Parker is so far in the lead that the only hope of defeating him is to find a candidate upon whom the field can combine. In that respect the Cleveland boom has acted as a boomerang. While short on delegates, it is long on orators, but the work of the orators had the effect of accelerating the drift to Parker. As between Cleveland and Parker there would be a stampede to Parker. When this fact was discovered the Cleveland band ceased to play.

The feature of today's proceedings was an attempt to bring Senator Gorman forward as the candidate upon which the field should concentrate to defeat Parker. The suggestion has not taken well, although Mr. Bryan favored it. Leading members of the Maryland delegation say that Senator Gorman will not allow himself to be used as a stick in Bryan's hands. The fact is recalled that Bryan attacked Senator Gorman in his paper as bitterly as he has other prominent delegates. The hunt for a candidate on which the field can combine its vote against Parker will have to go farther, with a rapidly fading prospect of any success. It looks very much like Parker.

It is plain that Bryan has reached his finish so far as Democratic party control is concerned. The conservatives have the situation so well in hand that if it were not for Bryan's volcanic oratory the convention would be quite likely to be as quiet and orderly as the Chicago convention. But Bryan will die fighting. Unless he alters his determination he is likely to make a convention speech which will be memorable for its bitterness. He is talking of denouncing the control of the conservatives as the triumph of graft, the ascendancy of Wall street over all regular party organization. If he does this it will be regarded as a bid for the Populist nomination and there will be an inclination to help him out of the Democratic party at the toe of a boot.

This is about the only prospect of unusual convention excitement and it creates among the delegates a vague feeling that something is liable to happen, while all the usual indications point to an old-fashioned convention, whose proceedings will be controlled by the regular leaders. Hearst is no longer a factor. Bryan is beaten; but Bryan will be able to make a showing, and at present he is in a mind to do it.

Ismay in Full Control.

LONDON, July 4.—The Daily Telegraph prints an interview with J. Bruce Ismay, in which the president of the International Mercantile Marine Company says he not only knows that he is "invested with absolute authority in the management" of the combination, but that the voting trustees, including J. P. Morgan, Charles Steele and P. A. B. Widener, have "handed over to me all executive powers."

AN INTERVIEW WITH HILL

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Louis, Mo., July 3.—W. J. Bryan spent the day trying to find a candidate to oppose Judge Parker. He did not succeed. He may have better luck tomorrow. Bryan accomplished but one thing today. He made public his position. As this was generally understood, it did not create a panic. Early this morning, long before the church bells pealed their first call, Mr. Bryan started a boom in the interest of Senator Gorman. The Maryland man, he announced, was the most available man for the presidential nomination. Although Bryan has publicly and privately opposed Gorman, he prefers him to Judge Parker. Hearst followers followed Bryan's tip. All of the radicals fell in line and the word was passed that Gorman had been picked to defeat Parker. But Gorman was not consulted. Had he been Bryan would have spared himself unnecessary humiliation. There is no doubt that the Maryland leader would like the honor, no doubt that he has been working to that end for years; also no doubt that he realizes he has no chance of securing the chairmanship of the Democratic national committee. He also understood Bryan's motive. He knew that the radical leader merely wanted to use him as a gatherer of baked chestnuts. So tonight he flagged the Bryan play. He

PENNSYLVANIANS FOR LATTER

By WALTER J. CHRISTY,
(Staff Correspondent.)
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Louis, Mo., July 3.—Effort has been made all day to have Col. J. M. Guffey join in a scheme to assist in the nomination of Senator Arthur Pue Gorman of Maryland for president. While he refuses to discuss the plan, there are certain indications that he is willing to aid if he is satisfied that the movement can be successful. The plan is to put up a number of favorite sons to hold delegations until the Parkerites are worn out and then bring in Gorman as the compromise candidate.

The Maryland senator is really putting a spoke in the wheel by his refusal to commit himself to the scheme. His friends have been flooding him with telegrams all day, but a satisfactory answer cannot be gotten. They are even unable to learn whether he intends to come to St. Louis. If he decides to remain at home, it will be taken that he acquiesces in the program and if he comes it will be notice that he is out of the running. If the Gorman boom peters out, Mayor McClellan of New York will be brought to the front as the man to whip Parker. Five trainloads of Tammanyites are to reach here in the morning. They are loaded with ammunition against Parker. There will be declarations that he cannot carry New York or New Jersey, and that if he is nominated, difficulty will be experienced in financing the campaign. This statement does not go down with August Belmont and his Wall street crowd working for the judge.

Will Test Mayor's Popularity.

Tammany will be willing to go to Gorman and yell for him, if it is shown that he is the man. Otherwise they will start the McClellan boom working. All their energies and that of other anti-Parkerites, will be thrown into the movement and a thorough test of the popularity of the mayor will be made. Should he be ruled out of the running by popular sentiment, another dark horse is waiting to be unblanketed. He is ex-Gov. Robert E. Pattison of Pennsylvania. In case he should fail, the opponents of Parker will have to hunt a new stable. The only evidence that Guffey is inclined to aid in the scheme is found in the strong sentiment among the Pennsylvania delegates for Pattison. They are nearly all talking in

WILLIAMS SAWS WOOD IN SECRET

Congressman Is Cutting Platform Planks, Far from Maddening Crowd.

A HERCULEAN TASK

Conservative Element Hopes He Will Be Able to Frame Structure Suiting Radicals.

HOT CONTEST IS PROBABLE

By L. W. STRAYER.
(Staff Correspondent.)
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

St. Louis, Mo., July 3.—Somewhere in this great city or its environs, far away from the maddening crowd and buried in the seclusion that is conducive to heavy thinking, sits John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, busily engaged upon two important tasks. One is the drafting of the Democratic national platform, or a document that may ultimately become the platform, and the other is the composition of his speech as temporary chairman of the convention. Williams has been here several days, but has been paying more attention to the wonders of the fair and the sights along the Pike than he has to politics.

When, however, he was informed that he had been selected as temporary chairman and was told that it was up to him to make a reply to the speech delivered in Chicago by ex-Secretary Root, Mr. Williams concluded that he had better get busy. So he gave up his room at the Inside Inn within the fair grounds and moved—nobody but a chosen few know where. But wherever he has gone he has carried with him the hopes of the conservative element of the Democratic party, hopes that he will be able to evolve a platform that will not drive any great number of Democrats out of the party, and hopes that he will succeed in writing a speech that will in at least some measure soften the blow of Mr. Root's masterly effort at the Republican convention.

Crowd Making Platform.

While the Democratic leader of the house of representatives is toiling and sweating in the travail of a declaration of principles, endeavoring to reverse the stand of the party in the past two campaigns and turn it right about, without the appearance of a retreat, national platforms are being made and unmade in every hotel lobby in the city. Wise ones are making predictions and staking their reputations for veracity upon planks of every kind. The greatest excitement today was caused by the report that David B. Hill of New York, the sponsor of the Parker candidacy, and probably the most cordially hated man among the Democratic leaders, proposed to insist upon a straight gold plank on the platform. And as if this was not enough to moisten the neckbands of already overheated Bryanites, it was accompanied by a rumor that Hill would also demand a weak trust plank, such as was adopted by the New York state convention. What made these rumors more horrible was the general belief that Hill controls the committee on resolutions and that he might be able to carry out some such diabolical plans if he really wished.

Traced to Bryanites.

These reports, when traced down, could all be laid at the door of the Bryan contingent. Whether the Bryanites imagined them or whether they were merely active in the circulation of the reports, cannot be said. But every trail of this character led to the Bryan doorstep. Parker men, when questioned on the subject, declared that there was no foundation for the rumors, but that they were being circulated for the sole purpose of alienating Parker delegates from the New Yorker. Mr. Hill was not disturbed by the reports and declined to make a statement. Col. Bryan was not so modest. He declared that he and his friends would not stand for any proposition that indorsed the gold standard or that let the trusts down easy. Bryan is looking for trouble, and the chances are that he will find all he wants before he gets away from this city. Hill isn't running away from it.

Three Principal Framers.

The three men who will have the most to do with the framing of the platform are David B. Hill, John Sharp Williams

POSITION OF RUSSIAN ARMY PERILOUS AT EVERY POINT

Every Recent Move in War, Both on Land and Sea, Improves Situation of Japanese and Helps Confound Enemy.

By BENNETT BURLEIGH.
[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]
(Copyright, 1904, by New York Herald Co.)

TOKYO, July 3.—(7:25 p. m.)—A careful survey of the existing situation discloses the perilous condition of the Russian soldiers, both within Port Arthur and also on Gen. Kuropatkin's right.

Further sallies of the Russian fleets from Port Arthur and Vladivostok have effected no results other than leaving the enemy worse off. Admiral Kamimura, who is holding the Korean straits, checked and then pursued the Vladivostok ships, which, as night came on, retreated in a northeasterly direction. The present cyclonic season of rain and storm probably enabled them to effect their escape, for Kamimura's special charge is to guard the straits, and he would not hunt far unless in actual touch.

Admiral Togo is still determinedly watching the enemy at Liao Tung, reducing the number of their ships and men.

Afield, the Japanese, by their conspicuous success in the action at Fenshui pass, forced the Russians into Sinju-Cheng, which, though strongly held, is dominated by Japanese positions. Thus Ta-Tshe-Chiao, the junction from which the railway branches off to Niuchwang, and Niuchwang itself are menaced and may be cut off while Hai-Cheng is directly threatened.

Gen. Kuroki, though probably not much in the public eye, while supporting the right of the advancing Japanese columns, may at any suitable moment break out beyond Hai-Cheng.

Around Port Arthur the Japanese grip is tightening and non-combatants are flying like rats from the place.

Although the loss of the transports has involved some delay, preparations for a final attack are nearing completion. Artillery and troops are getting into the best positions and all reports indicate there have been numerous engagements. The Japanese are now well to the southwest of Dalny.

BRYAN'S EXPECTED THREAT OF BOLT COMES VERY EARLY

Declares on His Arrival in St. Louis That He Will Not Stand for Gold Plank, and Is Opposed to Gavel Rule.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, July 3.—William Jennings Bryan arrived at the Jefferson hotel shortly before noon today. Callers were so many that he found it difficult to obtain time for meals.

The instant he walked into the lobby of the hotel he was surrounded by a dense crowd, which pressed forward to shake him by the hand. There was no cheering or demonstration of any kind. He declined to express an opinion regarding the outcome of the convention.

"I see," he said, "that it has been reported that I am to be a member of the committee on credentials. I would like to be, but I will not. I am to be a member of the committee on resolutions and could hardly serve on them both. The committee on credentials will have an important matter to settle at this convention. It must determine whether or not the party is to be run by gavel rule. In my opinion there is no more important question before the public today than whether or not a few men, one of whom happens to have a gavel in his hand, shall override the wishes of the voters who have selected certain men to represent them in conventions. The people elect their men, and should have them, but in some cases of late it does not seem as though they were getting them. I am opposed to such proceedings from every standpoint."

On the subject of platform Mr. Bryan was more non-committal. "I have heard talk," he said, 'of a gold plank' in the platform. Of course it goes without saying that I am opposed to such a thing, and I will not stand for it."

"Does that mean that if a gold plank is inserted in the platform that you will leave the convention?"

Mr. Bryan laughed heartily as he replied: "I do not think that I will be called to answer that question in the convention, any more than I am compelled to answer it now. Really, though, I could not discuss such a question as that."

When asked if he had any particular financial plank that he proposed to fa-

TRAIN SMASH IS PECULIAR

Loaded Car Falls 30 Feet Into an Allegheny Street.

ENGINE RUNS AWAY

With Nobody on Board, it Dashes Across Bridge into Penn Avenue Yards.

LOSS WILL BE OVER $15,000

A runaway engine with nobody on board, a collision which wrecked another engine, a heavily loaded meat car falling 30 feet from a raised track into Grantham street and striking a residence and the demolishing of three other cars, which strewed the tracks with beef, sausages and provisions, made considerable excitement in Allegheny yesterday afternoon. The wreck, which caused a loss of $15,000, was most peculiar and had many strange phases.

Leaving a switch open in the Fort Wayne railroad yards near the Armour & Co. warehouse, Anderson street, caused the smash. Damage was done to two engines and four refrigerator cars loaded with meat. No one was injured, but the engineer and fireman of one of the engines jumped from their cab, leaving the engine to run away. It crossed the Fort Wayne bridge and was derailed by the switchman in the yards at Eleventh street and Penn avenue.

Tried to Uncouple.

Yard engine No. 7040, which was manned by Engineer Frank Carlin and Fireman W. E. Zanini, had been detailed to shift nine cars of meat to the warehouse tracks of the Armour company. Switchman William Keller opened the switch and let the engine pull the cars on the sidetrack. After the cars passed the switch was not closed.

The yard crew began to put the cars on the warehouse tracks, one at a time, and left the other cars standing on the railroad siding. Two were on the Armour siding and they were shoving the third one in when engine No. 1015, manned by Engineer C. A. Litner and J. S. Whitmore, drawing a light freight train about the yard, came to the switch at Anderson street. It was believed to be closed, but before the engineer realized where he was going, his engine was on the sidetrack and running toward the meat cars.

The engine bumped into them and as there is considerable grade on the tracks at that place the crash started the meat cars going. They had considerable headway when the crew on No. 7040 were about to place the third meat car on the Armour siding. The six moving cars were about 40 feet away when Engineer Carlin saw the danger. Fireman Zanini was standing on the cowcatcher and tried to draw the coupling pin and free the engine. In the meantime Engineer Carlin reversed his lever and started to draw away from the rolling meat cars.

Caught by Watchman.

He was too late. The runaway cars were on him. The first jammed against the side of the car connected to the engine and hurled it across the siding. Engineer Carlin, thinking the weight would pull his light engine off the track, jumped from his cab. Fireman Zanini left the cowcatcher.

The impact, however, unfastened the couplings of the engine and cars, and the engine started, unmanned, across the low grade tracks for the Fort Wayne bridge. Like a frightened horse the engine tore toward the river, dashed across the bridge and into the freight yards at Eleventh street and Penn avenue. Watchman Frank Hennigan, who was sitting in the freight yards, saw the engine was running away, rushed to the switch and threw the wild engine into a siding where no harm would result. The engine was running backward and the tender was heavily loaded with coal.

Cab Takes Fire.

As the tender wheels passed over the switch, Watchman Hennigan reversed the switch to derail the engine. This was partly accomplished. The engine was thrown off the track, but the tender was so heavily loaded with coal and had so much headway that it dragged the engine some 100 feet over switches and tracks. These and ties were snapped and broken. When it came to a stop, one side of the engine was completely ruined and the tender was bent and broken. The hot coals from the firebox were thrown into the cab and the woodwork caught fire.

A fire alarm was sent in from box No. 26 for the chemical in Oliver avenue. When the firemen arrived they were unable to get through the yard gates and the railroad men put out the fire in the engine cab by throwing buckets of water on it.

Just as the engine started away in Allegheny a car with 18 tons of beef plunged over the 30-foot concrete wall into Grantham street. The car fell against the house of William W. McGavern at 313 in a open plot of about nine feet, between the frame house and the side of the railroad wall.

Saved by Policeman.

A few minutes before the crash a number of children were playing in the plot next to the McGavern house. A policeman passed and ordered them out of the place, which probably saved a number of lives. As the car fell it did considerable damage. The heavy iron hand railing along the side of the railroad was snapped from its fastenings like match sticks.

Some 50 feet of this railing was stripped from the granite wall. The snapping of the iron fastenings and the crash and splintering of the falling car was heard all over the neighborhood. It created considerable excitement and in a few minutes 500 persons were gathered about the place.

Two other meat cars were wrecked. The car which was struck by engine No. 1015 was smashed at the end, also the car that came in contact with the one which fell over the wall. Conductor A. Siebert, Flagman W. J. Scholler and Brakeman W. T. Smith and H. C. Hull, all with the crew of engine 1015, immediately notified trainmaster Harry K. Brady, who summoned wrecking crews.

The manager at Armour's was notified and soon had men gathering up the meat that was spilled out of the wrecked cars. The car that was rolled off the grade was raised from the street with very little trouble. The meat was removed and the fragments of the broken car were raised off the street to the grade.

Thinks He Was Lucky.

William M. McGavern, who, with his wife, lives at 313 Grantham street, says he has always been a lucky man, but he never was luckier than yesterday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock when the loaded refrigerator car fell into his yard and narrowly escaped wrecking his house and killing himself and his wife. There is a space of about nine feet between the side of the house and the high concrete wall along the top of which run the railroad tracks. The heavy car fell into this space and just fitted it exactly. It lay there on its side with the trucks on top of it, evidently having turned over in the fall of about 30 feet.

Usually all day Sunday the boys of the neighborhood play baseball in this space into which the car toppled, but at the time of the accident yesterday there was not a soul within 50 feet of the place. Mr. McGavern was upstairs taking a nap when the wreck occurred. The crash of the collision and the roar, as the great car came over the wall tearing away with it about 100 feet of the heavy iron railing, effectually awoke him. He imagined at first that the house was coming about his ears because, as it is of frame, the impact of the car shook it like an earthquake. Hastily dressing he rushed downstairs to find his wife safe but in a state of considerable excitement. She was sitting in the kitchen with her head against the wall of the house against which the car fell and she was badly shaken up. She said:

"I'm a little hard of hearing but I heard that smash all right."

Stopped All the Clocks.

Both rushed outside to see what had happened and on their way discovered that most of their ornaments had been knocked from the walls, that plaster had been shaken from the ceilings and that in the hallway, which was on the side of the house struck by the falling car, the wall near the floor and about five feet from the street had been caved in and the carpets and wallpaper torn and ripped.

In all the other houses near the shock dashed ornaments from mantels, scattered plaster from walls and ceilings and stopped clocks, several of them showing that the crash came at 2:15 o'clock.

When the roar of the accident had died away many of the people on Grantham street ran to the scene expecting to find the house of McGavern smashed. They were amazed at the way in which the car had wedged itself into the space which it barely filled. At first it was believed that some of the youthful ball players were under the wreck, but a careful canvass from house to house showed that all the boys of the neighborhood were safe. Then there was a rumor in the street that one of the trainmen was under the car, but this was denied by the railroad people.

The immense meat car, loaded and on its side, with its wheels on top, wedged into the narrow crevasse between the concrete wall and the side of a frame house which it had jarred so little that spectators had to go into the dwelling to find out there was damage, drew crowds during the afternoon and evening.

WABASH TRAIN IN ILLINOIS IS WRECKED

burning wreckage only by the heroic work of rescuers, who battled with axes to cut away twisted woodwork and guarled iron beams, dragging mangled bodies to the fields to the right and left of the tracks.

St. Francis' hospital was heaped with the dead and injured. Many moaning and gasping, their bodies torn and bleeding, lay on the grass plots without this house of death, while physicians were working to keep life in the torn and blood-swathed forms. In houses within the radius of a half a mile of the disaster other injured men, women and children were lying, while volunteers were seeking to save their lives. With no fire hydrants within a mile of the wreck, the flames swept the debris, burning seven coaches to a heap of ashes, black, charred and twisted steel and iron. Two chair cars, every seat crowded, were just behind the baggage car. These were telescoped like cars of paper and were burned.

From the bursting sides of these coaches the dying and injured were hurled like projectiles from a monster cannon. Men and women, hands crushed to pulp and dripping blood and watery flesh, ran up and down in their agony near the flame-swept coaches, shrieking until they plunged into the grass unconscious.

Vehicles as Ambulances.

Farmers with their wagons, citizens from Litchfield with their buggies, ambulances and conveyances of every description, hurried to the wreck, bearing off the dead and wounded from the bloody heaps along the grass-fringed tracks. Fighting like demons, the flames burning their clothing and singeing their faces, volunteers plied their axes and dragged person after person from the volcanic mountain of wreckage, adding to the bloody lines of the injured.

Mrs. Perkins of No. 5709 Union avenue, Chicago, was caught in the wreckage. She had been in the toilet room of the first chair car when the crash came. As the wielders fought their way to her while she screamed in agony from the consuming heat of the rushing flames, they found her body pinioned by the feet under the tons of debris. "Cut off my legs," she moaned.

"Cut them off! For God's sake, save me!" and then consciousness left the torn, burned body and the flames drove the axemen away. The body was eaten up by the red fire.

President Ramsey Interviewed.

ST. LOUIS July 3.—"The wrecked train No. 11, carried the telegraph lines with it and we have been unable to get much information," said President Joseph Ramsey, Jr., of the Wabash, when asked for details of the wreck on his road at Litchfield, Ill.

"What I have, came by the way of Decatur, and it is to the effect that the train was derailed at a switch at Litchfield. I presume the accident occurred in the yards not far from the depot. My dispatch says several people were killed and injured, but gives no specific number. It also states that the engineer, fireman, baggagemaster and a dispatcher are missing. I suppose this means they are under the wreck. I do not know their names, except that of the engineer which was Sanford. His home was at Decatur. Three of the cars took fire and were burned. I suppose the fire was started from the engine as there was no fire in the car. I do not know who the missing dispatcher was. He must have been riding in the engine or baggage car. A relief train carrying physicians and medicines was made up at Decatur and sent to the scene of the wreck. General Superintendent H. L. Magee departed on the first relief train."

GUFFEY IS URGED TO HELP GORMAN

his favor tonight. State Chairman J. K. P. Hall is passing the word around that it would be well for Pennsylvania to champion the ex-governor so that if it becomes necessary to make a switch it will be an easy matter to go to some candidate from without the state.

The Gorman boomers started to work early this morning with a conference at the Jefferson hotel. Ex-Senator Henry G. Davis and John T. McGraw of West Virginia were the promoters. They had with them National Chairman Jones, Secretary Walsh and representatives from Maryland, Virginia, South Carolina and other states. There were 18 men at the conference. Col. Guffey was invited and he accepted the invitation.

Can't Carry Own State.

Guffey was told that it would be impossible for Parker to carry New York or New Jersey. It was pointed out that if Gorman would agree to stand as a candidate, favorite sons could be put up in several states and the delegations kept from going to Parker. With Gorman as a candidate, it was promised that the states of Maryland, West Virginia and South Carolina and the District of Columbia, with a total vote of 54, could be held in line. Adding to this the 46 Harmon votes from Ohio, the six for Gray from Delaware and the 26 from Minnesota for Wall, an even 200 delegates would be tied up. Effort would be made to find favorite sons for other uninstructed delegates to vote for. They figured Parker in at about 375 votes and Hearst at 125. Inasmuch as Pennsylvania cannot give any electoral votes to the Democratic candidate, Guffey was told that in case the 68 votes from his state would nominate Parker, he had no right to force upon the party a candidate that cannot be elected. They also argued that there was a great danger of many Hearst delegates breaking away after the first ballot and going to Parker.

When Col. Guffey was asked tonight to discuss the conference of this morning he refused to talk. It is known that he did not give the conferees any definite idea of what he intends to do. All effort of the Gorman men to learn what the senator will do has been fruitless. His son, State Senator A. P. Gorman, is here and the young man was asked for information. He told the boomers that he could not speak for his father. He could not even say whether or not he would come to St. Louis.

Will Not Land Gorman.

There is every indication that the Gorman boom will not go through. Close friends of the senator are confident that he will not allow the use of his name to satisfy the spite of Bryan and others. Soon after the arrival of the Pennsylvania delegates today ex-Gov. Pattison, George W. Guthrie, Robert E. Wright, Charles F. Kelley and several other prominent Pennsylvanians visited Guffey in the hope that he would commit himself on the presidency. He advised them to mingle with the delegates of other states and decide for themselves what should be done. He said that he did not want to influence them in reaching a decision and desired that when the caucus is held that the Keystone delegates determine for themselves who they shall support.

John Cadwallader and Francis Fisher Kane, Philadelphia delegates, urged Guffey to declare for Parker. They believe that he will be the nominee of the convention and think that Pennsylvania should get in the band wagon if it is to share in the distribution of patronage in the event of the election of Parker. The colonel no doubt realizes that if the Pennsylvania Democrats have to wait until Parker is elected to secure jobs, they will be out of employment a long time. The colonel told them to go out into the highways and feel the public pulse. Ex-Congressman Shively of Indiana inquired of Senator Hill today concerning the attitude of Pennsylvania toward Parker.

Statement of Guffey.

Hill told him that Guffey had taken the broad view that as Pennsylvania had no electoral votes to give, it should not attempt to dictate the nominee. He added that he was hopeful that Guffey would be for Parker. When told of the conversation tonight, the colonel said that he had given Hill no assurance that he would favor Parker. Most of the Pennsylvania delegates are talking Pattison. Chairman Hall is advising them that it is wise to favor the Philadelphian and Hall never acts unless he has orders from Guffey. Parker and Gray have some friends on the delegation, Ex-Judge Calvin Reyburn of Kittanning is a strong Pattison man. He believes that if the opposition to Parker continues, Pennsylvania will have the honor of naming the nominee.

Tonight President Francis of the Exposition society, invited Governor Pattison to deliver a Fourth of July oration at the Pennsylvania building tomorrow. The invitation was accepted. The scheme is to have appropriate exercises at all of the state buildings. West Virginia will have a candidate for vice president in ex-Governor W. A. MacCorkle. John T. McGraw has stepped aside in favor of MacCorkle and will make the speech presenting the choice of the state to the convention. McGraw got into his talk with Guffey this morning was satisfactory, but declined to go into details. He promises that West Virginia will stick to the Gorman boom.

Anti-Johnson men in Ohio are scheming to prevent the Cleveland mayor from getting a seat in the convention. Their plan is to make a contest before the national committee in the hope that he will be ousted. The matter was laid before Harland Cleveland of Cincinnati, one of McLean's managers, and he has it under advisement.

Johnson will be here tomorrow and will not only fight to retain his seat, but will want to represent the state on the committee on credentials. The McLean men say that Johnson controls but 12 of the 46 delegates and will be unable to accomplish anything in the way of organization of the delegation. John A. McMahon is talked of for membership on the resolutions committee.

W. J. Bryan has asked Col. Guffey for a conference and the Pittsburgher will see him in the morning.

Col. Bryan wants Guffey to help him put the Illinois contests through the national committee. Bryan has been working all day on national committeemen and claims to have met with much success.

James Kerr of Clearfield is a strong Parker man. Tonight he held a lengthy conference with Guffey. At its conclusion he gave the impression that Pennsylvania would finally land in the Parker column, but says there is no cause for undue haste in making the announcement. Other Pennsylvania delegates who are talking Parker are Kennedy of Westmoreland, Stern of Erie, Wallace of Clearfield, Vintebler and Lauer of the 26th district, Gotwals of Montgomery, Kennedy of Schuylkill, Pile of Delaware, Keasbey of Chester, Petriken of Huntingdon and Cadwallader and Kane of Philadelphia.

In the lobby of the Southern tonight, a boomer of Judge George Gray of Delaware was passing around literature. When a pamphlet was offered to Col. Frank Fitzsimmons of Scranton, he refused to accept it, remarking: "I do not think much of Gray in our county. If any credit is due for the award in the anthracite coal strike it is going to Theodore Roosevelt. There is nothing to recommend Gray as a candidate for president."

ITALIAN KILLS BOY MOB THREATENS HIM

POMEROY, O., July 3.—Phil Bausell aged 11, was killed by an Italian, at Spitman, W. Va., last night. The killing is said to be the outgrowth of labor troubles in that place. A number of Italians have recently been imported to work in the mines. Seven Italians were arrested tonight and taken to Point Pleasant, where a mob has gathered and is threatening to lynch the imprisoned man.

Caleb Cullem Is Dead.

BEAVER FALLS, PA., July 3.—(Special.)—Caleb Cullem of Beaver Falls died tonight at the age of 78. He was born in McVeytown and came here 35 years ago. He served on the city council and held other public offices. He was a charter member of lodge No. 45, F. and A. M., of Pittsburgh and, with one exception was the only surviving charter member of that lodge. He belonged to the Methodist Protestant church. Two daughters survive—Mrs. Lillian Sterling, at whose home he died, and Mrs. Eugene Tea of New Brighton.

Deserter from Navy Surrenders.

Harry Berry, who says that he deserted from the United States ship Nevada at Norfolk on January 27, walked into the central police station at McKeesport last night and gave himself up. The naval authorities have been notified.

Water Boy's Fatal Fall.

John Gorman of [illegible] Bates street, a water boy employed at the Jones & Laughlin blast furnaces at Soho, fell through a trestle there at 4:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and was instantly killed. He alighted on his head on a pile of ore 40 feet below.

NORGE STRIKES ROCK; 750 ARE DROWNED

nothing has been seen of them since. The Salvia picked us up and we were well cared for on board the trawler. All of us lost our entire belongings. We had no time in that fierce fight for life to think of anything but the getting of seats in the boats."

The only hope, except for those known to have escaped, is that some few of the emigrants might have been washed up on the barren rock. Their chance of being rescued even then is practically nil, for vessels sailing the North Atlantic give Rockwall as wide a berth as possible.

The news of this disaster, which it is feared in its death record is greater than any previous tragedy of the Atlantic, came with the arrival tonight of the steam trawler Salvia at her home port, the quiet fishing town of Grimsby. The Salvia had been on a fortnight's cruise around the Hebrides. By a lucky chance she steamed further west than is usual for Grimsby trawlers, and fell in with the survivors of the Norge, who for 24 hours had been tossed about in a small boat on the rough waters of the North Atlantic. The survivors were taken aboard the Salvia and, were landed at Grimsby tonight. One of the survivors said:

"We left Copenhagen June 22. There were 700 emigrants, Norwegians, Swedes, Danes and Finns, on board. The crew numbered 80.

"All went well until June 28. I lay in my bunk, waiting for breakfast. We heard a little bump, then another bump, and then I rushed on deck.

"I saw at once that something serious had happened, and I made a dash below to gather up my few belongings.

"Scores were rushing on deck and the hatchway was crowded with emigrants. They were launching boats and rushing into them, but there was no panic.

"Four or five were in the boat into which I got and we cleared the ship. Luckily for us, in our party was the only seaman from the Norge who escaped and he was able to navigate our little boat.

"We saw two other boats capsize, owing to the heavy weather, and because no one could navigate them.

"We made straightaway and when we last saw the Norge a large number of emigrants were on the deck. Capt. Gundel stood on the bridge.

"Dozens of passengers had jumped into the sea. They wore life belts, but were drowned before our eyes."

The Norge sailed from Copenhagen, June 22. She was last sighted off the Butt of Lewis (the northernmost point of the Hebridean islands) on June 27. Rockall, the islet on which she struck, is about 200 miles west of the Hebrides. It is a dangerous reef with a rock about 75 feet above water.

The Norge, which had been in the Copenhagen-New York service of the Scandinavian-American line for a number of years, was an iron vessel of 3,318 tons gross and 2,121 tons net. Her principal dimensions were: Length, 340 feet; breadth, 40 feet, and depth, 25 feet.

The Norge was built at Glasgow by A. Stephen & Sons, in 1881, when she was christened Pieter Decoinick. When she was purchased by the United Steamship Company of Copenhagen, she was renamed the Norge. The vessel was equipped with six water-tight bulkheads.

BRYAN'S THREAT OF BOLT COMES EARLY

ther before the committee on resolutions Mr. Bryan declined to say, merely remarking: "I cannot talk of that matter before the meeting of the committee on resolutions."

Neither would Mr. Bryan say if he would accept a financial plank compromising between an affirmation of the Kansas City and Chicago platforms and a gold plank.

Later in the day Mr. Bryan gave out the following formal statement:

After conference with a number of delegates from various sections I am satisfied that the opposition to Judge Parker is sufficient to make his nomination highly improbable, if not impossible. There has been no concentration upon any anti-Parker candidate, but two arguments are having weight with the delegates. Among the radical Democrats the feeling is that the party must not be strengthened in the hands of Wall street. The influence back of the Parker candidacy are so intimately associated with the trusts and great corporations that the Democratic party could not appeal to the masses. The party cannot afford to entrust its future to the men who were responsible for the party's defeat in 1896 and 1900. If Mr. Parker had a record of his own he might be judged upon that record. But as he has refused to speak he must be judged by the record of his political manager, ex-Senator Hill, and his financial friends, August Belmont, and their records. A man who is weak enough to put his candidacy in their hands before the convention would not be strong enough to resist their influence after election if he were by any possibility successful.

The second objection is the one that carries weight with the conservative delegates, viz.: that to-day Parker is becoming more and more apparent what he would prove a weak candidate, and this is robbing him of whatever strength he had among the men who are first desire is to win. In the event a campaign the battle would begin with a footrace, and end with a rout. These two arguments seem quite certain to prove his undoing.

The first fight of the convention seems likely to be over the Illinois contest.

The Illinois state convention probably has no parallel in convention history. It was run by brute force and without any regard to Democracy or decency. The contestants will present the indorsement of a majority of the delegates of the convention who, having been deprived of a voice in the state convention, will appeal for justice to the national organization. The national committee cannot indorse the Hopkins methods without overthrowing the most fundamental of Democratic doctrines, viz.: The right of the majority to rule.

DECISION ON CONTESTS WILL BE MADE TODAY

ST. LOUIS, July 3.—Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock the national committee will meet for the purpose of hearing evidence in a number of contests and deciding in favor of delegates who will be seated under the temporary roll call. The real fight in the majority of these cases will come before the committee on credentials. The principal contest will be in Illinois, where protests are made against two of the delegates-at-large, John P. Hopkins and Ben T. Cable and 22 other delegates, two from each of 13 districts. The issue of contest in all these cases is practically the same, it being alleged that the Hopkins faction in the Illinois Democracy arbitrarily unseated delegates of the Harrison and Hearst factions for purposes of their own, the chief of which is to defeat the Hopkins people on the other hand claim that the original elections were void and that the action taken at the Illinois state convention, when the delegates of the Harrison and Hearst people were unseated, was only rushing a wrong previously done. They claim that Bryan will aid them in fight against the Hopkins men.

In addition to the contests in Illinois there will be a fight for all of the seats of the delegates from the District of Columbia. The Hearst management claims in this connection that arbitrary rulings by the chairman gave the seats unfairly to delegates who are friendly to Gorman. Practically the same ground of arbitrary ruling is made the issue in the Tenth district of Indiana. Other contests that will come before the committee tomorrow morning are from the Second Maryland district, Twelfth Ohio, First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth districts of Pennsylvania; the Second, Sixth and Seventh of New Jersey.

and William J. Bryan. If Senator Gorman should attend the convention he would be a member of the committee and a powerful factor in the deliberations. Other prominent Democrats who will have a hand in the platform matter are: Hon. E. Cable of Illinois, Senator William J. Stone of Missouri, Daniel J. Campau of Michigan, Senator Fred T. Dubois of Idaho, ex-Gov. John Lind of Minnesota, Senator John W. Daniel of Virginia, Newton C. Blanchard of Louisiana, Col. James M. Guffey of Pennsylvania, M. F. Tarpy of California, David Overmyer of Kansas, Senator Carmack of Tennessee, Gen. Weaver of Iowa, ex-Senator James Smith of New Jersey and Senator Tillman of South Carolina.

It is now an open question who will be chairman of the resolutions committee. Hill was supposed to be the man for this place, but today he put himself out of it by declaring that he did not want to be chairman. "I will not act as chairman of the committee on resolutions," said he. "I have no desire to act in this capacity or to be permanent chairman of the convention. In fact, I do not expect to take a prominent part in the proceedings of the convention."

This leaves the selection of a chairman in doubt, but there is no doubt whatever but that it will be a conservative Democrat, so that if Mr. Hill has an idea of putting in a gold plank or doing anything else of that kind, he will likely be able to get away with the goods.

While it is impossible to predict at this time with any degree of accuracy the wording of the platform as it will come from the committee, yet it is safe to say that the draft, as it will be submitted to the committee on resolutions by M. Williams, will follow closely the platform adopted by the Democrats of Mississippi.

Like the Williams Brand.

Mr. Williams wrote this platform, and leading Democrats have been delighted with the skillful manner in which he got around the silver issue. He did not exactly renounce free silver, nor did he dignify it by mentioning it specifically. He merely "congratulates the country upon the vindication of the Democratic contention for an increased volume of real or metallic money in a manner acceptable to all Democrats by the addition to the world's stock of money metals of $2,000,000,000 in gold within the past eight years, from which these United States have been able to obtain several hundred millions, thereby doubling their stock of standard money, raising their circulation per capita from $23 to $30," etc. In other words, Mr. Williams was pleased that the condition of the country which the free silverites hoped would be reached by the adoption of the free coinage of silver had already been reached without free coinage, and therefore the Democrats are willing to let the matter drop.

This is considered by the conservative element of the party as a happy way of getting around the silver issue and therefore it is no doubt the Mississippi plank in substance will be submitted to the committee on resolutions. It is expected that the hardest fight between the radical and conservative factions of the party will come over this plank, but it is freely predicted tonight that a sound money plank will be adopted. Bryan will insist upon a reaffirmation of the Kansas City platform or something equivalent to it, and how far he will carry this contention remains to be seen. It is said that the Hearst people will not go as far as Bryan in this matter, but they will insist that the trust plank be a drastic one, a declaration that will be in keeping with the policy of the Hearst newspapers towards the large corporations. It must be a stringent arraignment of corporate wealth to suit the Hearst representatives.

Will Mean a Hot Fight.

If the Parker people make a fight for the trust plank of the New York state platform, they will stir up radicals and precipitate a battle on this proposition. The platform adopted at Albany is a very brief one and to the subject of trusts just seven and one-half lines of agate type are devoted. The plank reads: "Corporations chartered by the state must be subject to just regulation by the state in the interest of the people, taxation must be for public purposes only and there must be no government partnership with protected monopolies. We are opposed to trusts and combinations that oppress the people and stifle healthy industrial competition."

That is the plank that it is rumored Dave Hill intends to force on the platform committee and which has caused so much alarm.

On the question of the tariff there is not likely to be any serious contention from present indications. The platform will demand tariff revision, but it is not believed that the wording of this plank will be considered material. Other planks will no doubt promise ultimate Philippine independence, indorsement of the Panama canal enterprise, but a denunciation of the methods used by the administration to secure concessions in Panama, and extension of the powers of the interstate commerce commission, which means a more rigid regulation of the trusts and railroad rates.

The state delegations will caucus tomorrow and select the members of the committees and when the personnel of the platform committee is definitely known, a clearer idea of what may be expected from it can be had.

The delegates from the Philippine islands have a plank that they will bring before the committee on resolutions. It calls for a more liberal provision for the islands than is called for in the Republican platform.

"We will ask for a plank in the platform," said Oscar Sutro, one of the delegates, "providing for a branch of the Philippine legislature similar to that which the house of representatives holds to this country. We want the commissioners to be the higher house and we want the privilege of electing a lower house of delegates. This will give the actual residents of the Philippine islands a greater voice in the government of the islands than they now possess or is provided for in the Republican platform."

The delegates will also make a request before the committee on credentials that they be allowed six full votes in the convention, one for each of their delegates.

VERY LARGE EXPORTS OF MANUFACTURES IN MAY

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Manufacturers and manufacturers' materials form an unusually important factor in the figures of our foreign commerce during the month of May and, indeed, to those of the entire fiscal year. For the first time in the history of our foreign trade the value of manufactures exported during the month of May exceeded that of agricultural products. The total value of manufactures exported in May, 1904, was $38,894,561, against $37,501,828, the value of agricultural products exported.

Clearance Black and Colored Silks.

It may easily be inferred that we led in the Silk business of the two cities the first half of the year, and the inference might be construed into an absolute fact. We have no doubt led by a splendid excess. Never in our 55 years of silk selling was there such continual throngs at our Silk Counter as in the five months past.

Right prices, always less than usual, right variety, always larger than usual, formed an incentive to come to our Silk section that was clearly irresistible. Following are some remarkable clearance prices on Silks:

Monday, July 4, 1904.

The Gazette desires to call the attention of those of its readers who contemplate summer trips to the announcements of the many summer resort hotels published on page 12 of this issue.

The much talked-of reductions of the working forces of railroads is simply a return to normal conditions as they existed three years ago, say the officials. This is true, though a return to the conditions of three years ago involves the discharge or suspension of a good many men. A good many of these men are finding work in the south and west, where the contraction is less marked than in the east. It is said the Santa Fe system has taken a large percentage of the men dropped by the Pennsylvania. There is no suffering, and it will not be long until the tide of prosperity is on full again and more men will be needed.

Rear Admiral O'Neill, distinguished in his connection with the bureaus of construction and ordnance of the American navy, is traveling in Europe inspecting the navies of other countries. In an interview in Paris he declares the American armor and armament the equal, if not superior, of any in the world. This is gratifying assurance from an expert. It is not all of the problem of naval defense, but it is an important element. Quality of guns and armor protection gives opportunity for the most important factor, the man behind the gun and the man behind the machine. All the world has been compelled to admit the quality of the men who compose the American navy, and while that quality is maintained, good guns and good armor give us, as Admiral George Dewey has well said: "The most effective navy in the world."

Another considerable industrial achievement was reported from Monessen at the close of last week. During the week the American tin plate mill there ran "double mill" on open hearth steel with entire success. The importance of this item will be apparent to those familiar with the process of rolling tin and terne plates and may be estimated by the non-technical public from the fact that heretofore it has been doubted whether the men had the skill to do it. A large share of the common practices that have reduced the cost of producing various forms of iron and steel during the past thirty years, have grown up in this way from the skill of Pittsburgh workmen and the enterprising spirit of Pittsburgh mill managers. Even new processes invented abroad have found their full fruition here, exemplified by the "American practice."

President Roosevelt has gone to his home at Oyster Bay for the summer, whither his family had preceded him. There have been no signs yet of the usual Democratic outbreak over the removal of the capital, probably because the Democratic editors are too busy looking after the chances of their favorites at St. Louis to notice the incident. Besides, the president usually remains at his summer home for two months or more and can be given attention during the normal dull and silly season after the convention is over. Possibly, however, the Democratic silence at this time is due to discovery of the fact that the American people have no sympathy with the idiotic howl against vacations of the presidents, to which they are fully entitled. The average citizen knows full well that no interest of the government is suffering through the temporary absence of the president or other executive officers.

Gov. Luke Wright of the Philippines has submitted for adoption an internal revenue act that, it is estimated, will produce $5,000,000 a year without imposing hardship upon those who pay the tax. This revenue will go far to meet the necessities of the Philippine government. The failure of congress to make provision, requested some time ago by former Gov. Taft, was rather embarrassing at the moment and necessitated other expedients. The internal revenue bill is evidence that the Philippine government is capable of overcoming difficulties, and we may expect in a few years to find that government self-supporting and the islands in prosperous conditions. With an end to the nonsense about separation from the United States and "complete independence," capital will seek investment in the Philippines and they will enjoy industrial activity and transportation facilities such as they never before knew.

In trial runs off the Delaware coast the new armored cruiser Colorado reached speeds of more than twenty-two knots an hour, developing 23,500 horse power. As the Colorado carries heavy armor, twelve-inch turret and eight-inch main battery guns, its speed exceeds that of any vessel of its class afloat. It is but an index to the new naval vessels now building. A new mechanism has been ordered for all the big guns of the navy that instantly cleans them after discharge and will thus prevent "back-firing," the cause of two serious accidents in recent naval target practice. Land has been purchased and plans made that, when carried out, will make the navy yard at Norfolk the largest in the world. All of these things make for peace. In strength there is safety. In the American navy is immunity from the aggressions of foreign powers. The money spent for this national insurance is well spent.

Independence Day.

There is not much that is new to be said of Independence Day, but its significance is among the truths that cannot be too often recalled or repeated. The declaration of formal severance of the American colonies from the sovereignty of Great Britain, 128 years ago, was an event of world-wide importance. It was not merely an alteration of the colors on the map of the world, but it wrought a radical change in world thought and systems of government. To Americans the Fourth of July is sacred as the natal day of the republic, but to many other peoples that day marks the dawn of enlarged liberties and better government. Though the Declaration of Independence be unknown to all of Asia and a part of Europe, the events which called it forth and the results that followed have touched the daily lives of millions on six continents.

Had the revolt against the petty tyranny of the third George of England done no more than give birth to this great nation it would be one of the great events in history. But it did more. It roused the spirit of liberty everywhere, compelled a more liberal form of government in England itself and gave a most liberal autonomous plan of government to Canada, Australia and South Africa. The broad foundations on which the new republic was designed has enabled the erection of a superstructure that has been a model for all the world. Contemplation of it has led the lovers of liberty and justice everywhere to strive for modifications of the autocracies under which they lived. By peaceful agitation and by revolutions, constitutions have supplanted imperial dictators and the art of government has improved. In some instances the very tide of emigration to the land of the free to escape unjust impositions has compelled reforms of the system.

To what proportions the American republic has grown we all know. Each succeeding decennial census gives us cause to wonder at our own progress and resources. Each campaign brings home to us the fact that this is a growing nation; that there is need for strenuous effort to direct growth into right channels. As citizens we are proud of our country and as patriots we hope for its perpetuation and perfection. Therefore, it is meet that on this Fourth of July we shall decorate our dwellings with the most beautiful national flag ever devised; that we shall meet in city parks or on village greens to read the Declaration, discuss the Constitution and eulogize the fathers; that at night we shall fire rockets and bombs and rejoice in a golden glory of fire. It is well, even, to permit the coming citizens to shoot firecrackers and torpedoes and smell powder. We find no fault with those who endeavor to regulate the noise and eliminate the danger, for the essence of Americanism is that utmost liberty of the individual that is considerate of the rights of his fellows. But noise in proper places is a good thing. It appeals to the youthful fancy and it helps to impress upon the youthful mind the real lessons of the day as nothing else could. If the childish imagination pictures the serried ranks of his country's foes hurled into confusion by the fusillade of "baby crackers," the seeds of civic courage are made to germinate. Elimination of all this might make for the comfort of aged philosophers, mature statesmen and people "with nerves," but it would also make for the deterioration of that martial spirit upon which every nation depends in the hour of peril.

It's the Fourth of July! It's the day we celebrate!

Barbarities Charged.

There is a prospect that the war in the far east will be productive of criminations and recriminations affecting the barbarity or humanity of the respective armies. The Russians filed complaint of the mutilation of the dead and barbarous killing of the wounded in the vicinity of Telissu. Subsequently they made other complaints. Now the chief of staff of the Japanese second army has filed formal complaint against the Russians, charging mutilation and barbarity. His complaint has been sent to the Japanese legation at Washington.

Secretary Hay, speaking of the Russian charge, was disposed to attribute the appearance of barbarity to the effects of the new explosive shells. This answer cannot be returned to the Japanese allegation that the Russians were seen in the act of maltreating a wounded man. But the incident may be passed as an unauthorized outburst on the part of brutal troopers.

It may be expected that some barbarities will be perpetrated on both sides. The veneer over the Tartar in the case of some Russians is extremely thin and the paganism of a portion of the Japanese is very recent. But we do not believe that inhumane acts are sanctioned on either side. The horrors of war at the best are bad enough for educated gentlemen to endure, and we expect the rule on both sides will be humane treatment of the wounded and prisoners. In this direction there is full confirmation of the Japanese kindness to Russian prisoners taken to Japan, and this is emphasized by the creation of a bureau of information for the purpose of communicating with prisoners' friends concerning their condition.

St. Louis Convention.

Parker sentiment appears to be rising as the delegates gather at St. Louis and certainly the confidence of the backers of Judge Parker is increasing. They predict the nomination of the New York jurist on the second ballot, if not on the first. The Hill contingent, however, declares it has no draft of a platform for Judge Parker to stand upon and will not begin to make one before Wednesday. At the same time some of the enthusiasts are looking around for a suitable running mate for the New Yorker, giving the impression that they are sure of everything else.

Outside the Parker supporters there is less show of confidence. It is conceded that Judge Parker may be nominated on second ballot, with strong intimations that if he is not nominated then he never will be. As a matter of fact no one is quite certain and the very assumption of confidence on the part of the New York boomers is in itself an indication that they deem it necessary to play for the votes of the delegates who have no other preferences than to enroll themselves for the winner and the possibility of favors to come.

William J. Bryan declines to discuss his probable action in the event that a gold standard plank is put in the platform, though he plainly fears that he will have to make up his mind what to do in that case. There is plenty of talk about a gold plank among the less conspicuous delegates and many of them think it will be necessary to make a sound money declaration to take off the Bryan "hoodoo."

There is every promise of a lively convention. The "reorganizers" will be in complete control, but they probably cannot prevent Bryan from "having his say." There is sure to be a battle over the platform and there may be a struggle over the nomination. Representative J. Sharp Williams has been selected, without opposition, for temporary chairman and there may be no test of strength over the permanent chairmanship. In any event The Gazette has a full force of staff representatives on the ground to get the news and to supplement its unexcelled ordinary news service.

The Call of the West.

The call of western farmers for help in gathering in their crops has been answered by twelve Harvard students. A dozen college boys can't make much of an impression on the vast wheat fields of Kansas, but their example is inspirational. Why should not hundreds of young collegians looking for work by which to earn money during vacation embrace the opportunity offered by the great west? No work on earth is more wholesome. Its returns are to be found not only in the generous wages which the farmers stand ready to pay, but also in the strong muscles and the clear brain with which the workers will go back to their college duties. There, too, may be found a nobler and more useful outlet for that athletic training which has become so pre-eminent a characteristic of college life. All winter and spring the boys have been at work in the gymnasium and on the campus. So far as muscle and endurance are concerned they would not go to the west as tenderfeet, but as men of brawn, capable of doing a day's work in the fields with any native-born son of the prairies.

But the inspiration of the example set by those college lads ought to extend farther than the colleges. In our large cities are thousands of able-bodied young fellows, many of them working for mere pittances, under conditions anything but conducive to health. Three months spent in the harvest fields of the west would send them back to the city with more money than they could accumulate in twice that time where they now are, and with a stock of health that money could not buy. Yet the golden plains of the west must call, oftentimes in vain, for men to come out of the roar and grind and smoke and heat and noisome odors of the city, and to return for a little time to the life-giving work and play on the bosom of old mother earth.

From out the valley of the Platte
Now comes the jar and jolt
Of William Jennings Bryan at
The forging of the bolt.

An engineering journal inquires if we are not going too fast, or too far, in concrete. Well, a good many of the vaunted concrete facts are merely theory in abstract.

When the torrid weather gets to working regular, wonder if Uncle Russell Sage will not go somewhere "on business." life is opposed to vacations.

Oyster Bay is again the summer capital of the nation and the nation will do very well with very little government for awhile.

The Russians complain that the Japanese use bad language in battle. Well, war is hell, and what do they expect in such a place?

Even the giant cracker may have its uses. There is the fellow that's "too pusillanimous to live" and "too mean to die."

Now will young America assert his inalienable right to liberty and pursuit of happiness, without regard to life.

The naming of a new cigar after Judge Parker is probably intended as an effort to draw him out.

Col. Guffey is mentioned for the Democratic nomination for president. The Democrats could do no better.

This is the day when the eagle screams and everybody enjoys the noise more or less.

The uprightness of the Republican cause has been materially added to by Senator Fairbanks.

That calamity to Santos-Dumont's gas bag should be a warning to Col. Bryan.

The fish trust doesn't bother us. We've always had to take fish on trust.

At any rate, Judge Parker has maintained his dignified silence through it all.

Port Arthur may not have seen many winters, but she is fairly decrepit in falls.

Talked of in Gotham

By ALEXANDER DODDS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 3.—Like the rattle of musketry on the picket line on the discovery of the enemy, Greater New York's young America today gave warning of tomorrow being Independence day. Sunrise found the small boy abroad with his cap pistol and firecracker, and like the growing tide of battle, the volume of noise has increased until tonight from the Battery to Harlem the crackle of explosions great and small is heard on every side. It will be a sleepless night for thousands. Commissioner McAdoo issued countless edicts to the police, but to the contrary notwithstanding, fireworks dealers last night were telling the same old story of previous Fourths—depleted stocks and demands for more. With practically three days holiday this Fourth of July probably witnessed the greatest exodus of any holiday in the city's history. Saturday gave every promise of several bright and hot days and there was a general scurry for the shore and mountain resorts. But with all the thousands that fled the small boy and the firecracker fiend remain to make life a burden for that class of humanity affected with what is commonly known as nerves. The same old bass drum shatterers, the cannon cracker, explodes in the same old way despite the law against their sale and use; the ball cartridges "chung" in the air on the side streets, and in all there is every reason to predict the hospital rosters on Tuesday morning will show that it indeed has been a glorious Fourth.

The Light That Did Not Fail.

Down in the Hudson street hospital little Mary McCann lies swathed in bandages, a mass of burns, with a hole torn in her small plump cheek and a broken nose. By her cot's side there stood this evening, with sad faces, a sorrowing mother and a weeping child. In Baxter street Mary and her brother were playing shortly after noon. They found a large firecracker in the gutter. "It's out," said Mary, and as she picked it up to look, it exploded with a cruel force that hurled her to the sidewalk unconscious, and sent a neighboring policeman rushing to the nearest ambulance call. Little Mary's name heads the Independence day accident list.

Where the Barker Reigns Supreme.

The harvest is being reaped at Coney Island and its allied resorts. Three hundred thousand pleasure seekers is the figure given out by the press agents tonight, and they claim, with a repetition of today's weather tomorrow, the transportation lines will not be able to handle the multitude that will be desirous of getting out to this famed resort. There has been much to dishearten the attraction owners there this season, for the cool days and nights have not been conducive of big crowds. But a hot, sunshiny day sends a sweltering throng that pauses as a roaring voice cries "This is me, friends, but over there is the greatest of all attractions," then turns in the direction pointed by his index finger, almost mobs the ticket-seller and the "barker's" workefor the moment is done. Mountain and other distant resorts also claimed a myriad of visitors today, for it is possible to go far afield when 72 hours are included in one holiday.

Jersey City Goes From Bad to Worse.

While for many the one hundred and twenty-eighth annual performance of the drama, "American Independence," will have that alternate title, "Maimed for Life," Jersey City hopes to escape. Her aldermen have enacted an ordinance that there shall be no firecrackers, cannon torpedoes or any other nerve-shattering devices employed. The Jersey City police say they will have a silent municipality if they have to fight for it. However, ferry rates to the metropolis are cheap and the siren song of the famed "skeeter" can continue uninterruptedly, while across the Hudson the youth of the town may scorch their eyebrows, burn their faces and injure their fingers to their hearts' content.

Are Using a Department Store Phrase.

This has been window dressing week for the trust companies, which are compelled by law to report their exact condition on the basis of July 1 figures. While, of course, one does not expect to see a display of dress goods in a bank window, yet these institutions of finance are seeking the same result as the merchant when he puts out a line for the "lookers." The trust companies are seeking new depositors with an attractive announcement of their financial condition. Several companies kept clerks working all night all last week in an effort to revise the lists and complete tabulations in time. Certain companies, wishing to make an especially strong showing, have attracted deposits during the past week to strengthen their position. This is done by getting some strong insurance company to make a deposit for a day or so. While it will be several days before the figures of the 81 companies of the state of New York are properly tabulated, the July reports are expected to show a heavy gain of deposits, owing to the prevalence of low money rates and the accumulation of funds for investment.

One Phase of a Great Work.

A school of instruction for those who are to work in the great caissons of the Pennsylvania railroad tunnel beneath the North river, is the latest phase of this stupendous $50,000,000 investment. The heavy atmospheric pressure in connection with the submarine work sooner or later gives those who follow the trade the dreaded "bends" and still more fatal paralysis. Experiments show that the best way to combat this is to place those thus afflicted in another air chamber of equal pressure and then slowly release the weight. The railroad company and contractors alike have decided to keep the casualties down to a minimum, and with this in view they are now arranging to have the men who are to work in the caissons trained to their occupation by subjecting them to increased atmospheric pressure and then to a similar reduction of the pressure again.

Hotel Building Mania is Over.

There has been a collapse of the construction movement in apartment hotel buildings. In 1901 and 1902 the erection of these new-fangled apartment hotels assumed the proportions of a mania. There were from 40 to 50 built in this city in each of these years. At present contractors report an ending of this class of work, while almost every week an apartment hotel lessee is forced into bankruptcy. A strange feature of metropolitan life is brought out by the announcement that within the past three years more hotels than housekeeping apartments have been built. A city of apartment hotels, in place of a city of apartment houses, would have great interest for the sociologist, and at one time Manhattan seemed tending that way.

The Quiet Observer

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Who does not feel today the thrill
Linked to the name of Bunker Hill?
Who cannot see the glorious line
That met the foe at Brandywine?
Or that which held the people's hopes
Upon King mountain's slippery slopes?
What if twere broken in the storm?
Heroically did it re-form!

—T. C. Harbaugh.

Do you feel the Bunker Hill thrill today? The time was when we sang "The Sword of Bunker Hill" with a zest and unction that could only come of good feeling, and which never failed to cause others to feel good, even if the singing was not of the best.

"Stand your ground. Don't fire unless fired upon; but if they mean to have war let it begin here."

Do these words, addressed to the minute men by Capt. Parker before the opening of the battle of Bunker Hill, cause your heart to swell and your arms to feel strong?

They used to have this effect.

But times have changed some, and the words and the songs and the pictures that stirred the hearts of young America may fall flat upon the ears of today.

And yet young America of today stands ready to man the ships and serve the guns as it did in '76.

* * * * *

"If you mean to have war let it begin here," is the notice displayed, not only at Bunker Hill, but on every hill and in every vale in this broad land, but you must fire the first shot.

You have not forgotten what happened after the first shot against Fort Sumter, and the blowing up of the Maine?

With each of these events began the making of world history which, in point of general interest, equals that which began at Bunker Hill.

The first gun of the revolution was heard around the world, but it was only a flint-lock, while it was a cannon that announced the beginning of the war of the rebellion, and a cowardly bomb that called the world to witness the final overthrow of slavery and misrule in America.

There are bigger guns and fiercer bombs than these, but we have bigger guns ourselves, and bigger ships, and we have the men and the money, too, and don't you forget it; but these are for defense only, except where they can be used advantageously in the interest of peace, prosperity and progress.

THE SWORD OF BUNKER HILL.

He lay upon his dying bed,
His eyes were growing dim,
When, in a feeble voice, he called
His weeping son to him:
"Weep not, my boy," the veteran said,
"I bow to heaven's high will;
But quickly from yon antlers bring
The sword of Bunker Hill."

The sword was brought; the soldier's eyes
Lit with sudden flame;
And, as he grasped the ancient blade,
He murmured Warren's name;
Then said, "My boy, I leave you gold,
But what is richer still,
I leave you, mark me, mark me, now,
The sword of Bunker Hill.

"'Twas on that dread, immortal day,
I dared the Briton's band,
A captain raised his blade on me,
I tore it from his hand;
And while the glorious battle raged,
It lighted Freedom's will;
For, boy, the God of Freedom blessed
The sword of Bunker Hill.

"Oh! keep the sword," his accents broke,
A smile—and he was dead;
But his wrinkled hand still grasped the blade
Upon that dying bed.
The son remains, the sword remains,
Its glory strong still,
And twenty millions bless the sire
And sword of Bunker Hill.

—William R. Wallace.

You are that son, my boy, and the sword rests upon yonder antlers ever ready to your hand, while four score millions look to it for protection from usurpation and misrule.

Remember, it can only be drawn in the cause of freedom and progress, or in defense of human freedom and the rights of man.

Our father's God, from out whose hand
The centuries fall like grains of sand,
We meet today, united, free,
And loyal to our land and Thee,
And thank Thee for the era done,
And trust Thee for the opening one.

O, make Thou us through centuries long,
In peace secure, in justice strong;
Around our gift of freedom draw
The safeguards of our righteous law
And, cast in some diviner mold,
Let the new cycle shame the old.

—John G. Whittier.

* * * * *

The day we celebrate was made memorable by the famous 56 patriots who decided after a hot and stormy debate that the 13 colonies of America were and of right ought to be free and independent. The first celebration took place in Philadelphia four days after the adoption of the Declaration. That particular 8th of July of the year 1776 is described by one of the immortal signers of the Declaration as being "a warm, sunshiny morning," and it was in the yard of the state house that John Nixon read the new and original Declaration. The great assemblage of people "gave three repeated huzzas," we are told, and the king's coat of arms was torn down. The proclamation was read again before each of the five battalions on the common of the old Quaker City, and in the evening bonfires were lighted, bells were rung and cannon were discharged.

In New York the next day, July 9, Washington himself took part in the celebration of the first Fourth. The Declaration was read in the presence of the army, and the populace gave vent to their feelings in cannon firing, bell ringing and bonfire making. Enthusiasm, in fact, ran so high that the people tore down the statue of King George III. from its place in Bowling Green and beheaded and melted the same, much to the satisfaction of the soldiery, whom only stern discipline had deterred from so doing.

* * * * *

There was no telegraph in those early days, and it took the good news some time to reach Boston. It was on the 18th of July before the intelligence was brought by messenger, and though somewhat belated in celebrating America's first Independence Day, those early Bostonians were none the less enthusiastic at the thought of having thrown off the burdensome English yoke. They had no statue of King George to break up, but did the next best thing by tearing down the lion and unicorn from the east wing of the state house, and in the evening there was a general illumination, with much merrymaking on the common.

From the files of London papers of 776 we find that the Declaration of Independence was not altogether unexpected. A heated discussion of the rights and wrongs of the colonies was carried on for some months prior to August, when the first news of the Declaration reached London.

On August 12 the news was received that independence had been declared by the united colonies. All the newspapers of that date published an identically worded paragraph which read: "Advice is received that the congress resolved upon independence the 4th of July and, it is said, have declared war against Great Britain in form."

For a Sane Fourth

THE STROLLER.

The popular pastor of a suburban church near Allegheny yesterday morning gave a straight-from-the-shoulder talk to fathers and mothers on the dangers involved in a gunpowder Fourth of July celebration. As he warmed up to his theme and quoted the casualty statistics which the editorial columns of the press have been assiduously circulating recently, the parents began to get warmed up, too, and the minister's remarks found frequent punctuation by emphatic nods of approval from the pews. Here and there in the congregation, however, were youngsters, and one needed not to watch them very long to know that the preacher was rapidly losing whatever hold he might have had on their sympathies. Sundry sly kicks and nudges bestowed on one another, half-deprecatory glances shot sidewise at their intent parents, were sufficient evidence that the pulpit ammunition was completely wasted so far as they were concerned. From the look of mingled contempt and dare-devilry on the face of one small boy, I believe he wouldn't have hesitated an instant to have dropped a lighted cannon cracker on the sacred floor then and there if he had had one with him and could have done it surreptitiously.

On the way home the minister's warning was discussed with emphatic approval.

"It's a mighty fine thing to see the pulpit take an interest in such timely matters as that," commented one gentleman who had three of his olive branches in tow. "If preachers throughout the country would do the same thing, in the same forceful manner, we'd soon see a decided reform in this reckless manner of celebrating."

"By the way, Brother Smith," remarked a neighbor who had noticeably refrained from passing any comment on what had just issued from the pulpit, "you've got a healthy-looking lot of youngsters there; how do you propose to let 'em celebrate?"

Brother Smith was perceptibly embarrassed.

"Well—er—the fact is," he replied, sheepishly, "I just couldn't shut 'em off entirely from making a little noise, so I laid in a small stock of ammunition last night. I was careful, though, to select only such things as I considered they might handle with perfect safety."

Upon further inquiry it developed that the combustibles which Brother Smith had purchased for his youngsters were made up of the following assortment:

Three canes for shooting off caps.
Six bunches of medium-sized firecrackers.
Two dozen "nigger-chasers."
A dozen Roman candles.
Half a dozen rockets set on sharp sticks so that they might be safely stuck in the ground.
A lot of red fire.
An assortment of pin wheels.

The neighbor who had pursued his interrogations laughed.

"That's a good start toward the reform movement," he commented; "almost as good as mine, although I must confess I left out the rockets."

The thoroughness with which the idea of a "sane Fourth" has inoculated the public was quite evident in the fireworks emporiums last Saturday. Most of them were crowded all day, and by people of all classes and conditions. Yet they were exceedingly cautious in their buying. "Now, here," queried a fond mother, holding up a huge article known as "What Happened to Hooligan," and containing enough powder to have blown her to kingdom come, "would you consider this dangerous?"

"Not in the least, madam," replied the clerk confidentially, "if you follow closely the directions plainly printed on it."

The woman promptly bought without looking at the directions, which read as follows:

"Do not hold this in your hands, but place it upon the ground. light the fuse and retire at least six feet away. Do not examine after lighting."

Yet even if the fathers and mothers, for the sake of the time when they were youngsters, cannot find it in them to deprive their children of the old-time joys associated with the Fourth, it is a fact that this agitation for reform is really bearing fruit among the youngsters themselves.

In a couple of little suburban stores the proprietors remarked Saturday that there was almost no demand for the toy pistols that were once so popular.

"The children seem to have a holy horror of 'em," said one of these dealers, "and they won't buy even the kind that shoot these harmless little paper caps."

When it was explained to the dealer that, in the opinion of some doctors, the little paper caps were quite as likely to cause serious trouble as the more pretentious varieties of ammunition, his reply was a contemptuous "bosh!"

Appealing this subject, however, to the good sense and judgment of a couple of demure little misses, whose teachings on patriotism received in the public schools seemed to promise a good foundation upon which to begin, I suggested:

"But don't you think it would be much better and nicer in every way to have a Fourth of July devoted to music and pretty exercises and speeches in commemoration of what the day really stands for?"

"What! And no firecrackers and Roman candles?" was the astonished reply. "Well—I—should—say—not!"

Of a four-year-old, whose intuitions I deemed could not yet have been greatly affected by tradition, I asked:

"What's Fourth of July for, Bobby?"

"To have a big noise!" he shouted enthusiastically.

So the problem of reform, we see, has obstacles at depths that we had hardly suspected.

A New Indian War.

Congressman Curtis of Kansas has a rival for his seat in "Charlie" Martell, a Pottawatomie Indian, who is making a novel canvass of the district, holding old-fashioned Indian war dances and pow-wows. Although well educated, he is partial to the open life of his ancestors, and lives in a tepee.—New York Tribune.

The Death Roll

Dr. Theodore Herzl.

Dr. Theodore Herzl, founder of the Zionist movement and president of the Zionist congress, is dead at Vienna. To Dr. Herzl may be ascribed pre-eminently the movement known as "Zionism" during the last few years. Herzl, who was born in 1860, was a journalist and playwright, whose racial sympathies were aroused to indignation by the treatment the Hebrews received in Austria by the anti-Semites in 1895. He concluded that the only solution of the problem was the segregation of the Hebrews under autonomous political conditions. He called for a new exodus and set forth his plan in a pamphlet called "The Jewish State," published in 1896. He suggested that a tribute-paying Hebrew state should be formed under the suzerainty of the sultan of Turkey. This idea was later developed by the Zionist organization into a program aiming to establish for the Hebrew people a publicly and legally assured home in Palestine. Many distinguished Hebrew literary men, among whom were Dr. Max Nordau and Mr. Israel Zangwill, joined Dr. Herzl, and he received promises of support and sympathy from all parts of the world, particularly the United States, though the "haute finance" and the higher rabbinate stood aloof. In Europe it is estimated that the Zionist organization has a following of over 250,000 Hebrews.

Dr. Herzl derived much encouragement from audiences he was granted by the sultan in 1901 and 1902, but the concessions proposed were not considered adequate and the negotiations failed.

Mrs. R. P. Smith.

Mrs. Margaret Smith is dead at her home in Wood street, Tarentum, at the age of 79. She was born in Ireland in 1825 and came to this country in 1850, living first in Allegheny. In 1843 she was married to R. P. Smith, a hardware dealer, who died in 1872. Mr. and Mrs. Smith removed to Tarentum in 1866. Mrs. Smith is survived by three sons, A. H. Smith of East Deer township, and S. B. and Homer Smith of Tarentum. Funeral services will be conducted at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon by the Rev. C. M. Miller, pastor of the Tarentum Methodist Episcopal church.

Dr. A. T. Hayden.

Dr. A. T. Hayden, a well-known physician, died at Salem, O., Sunday morning, aged 62. He was born in East Cleveland and was graduated from Hiram college and the Homeopathic Hospital college at Cleveland. He practiced in Cleveland until 1881. He had been living in Salem since 1892. His father, Amos Sutton Hayden, was many years president of Hiram college and a leading minister of the Disciple church. He is survived by a wife, one son, W. H. Hayden of Youngstown, and one daughter, Mrs. C. E. Esterly of Lawrence, Kan.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gorman McMahon.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gorman McMahon, aged 25, wife of Martin McMahon, died at the family residence, 927 Talbot avenue, Braddock, yesterday. Mrs. McMahon was born in Braddock and was married but a year. She returned last week from Colorado Springs, where she had gone in search of health. Her husband, one brother and three sisters survive. She was a member of St. Thomas Roman Catholic church, where high requiem mass will be celebrated tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in Monongahela cemetery.

Braddock Council Attended Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary A. Williams, wife of Councilman William H. Williams of Braddock, took place yesterday afternoon. The services in the First Baptist church, of which she was a charter member, were in charge of the pastor, the Rev. George T. Street, assisted by the Rev. A. J. King of this city. Braddock council was present in a body, occupying seats in the front of the church. At a special meeting of the council Saturday evening resolutions of respect were passed.

Obituary Notes.

James Lauble, aged 81, died suddenly of apoplexy at his former home, 75 Hazelwood avenue, yesterday afternoon. He is survived by two daughters, Laura E. Lauble and Nannie G. Lauble, and one son, James Lauble, Jr.

Mrs. Anna Mary Sarver, wife of the late Abram Sarver, died at the home of her son, George S. Sarver, in Greensburg, Saturday night. She was aged 77 years. She is survived by four children, Henry and George Sarver, Mrs. Elizabeth Kemerer and Zachariah Kistler, all of Greensburg.

PERSONALS

"The watch business, like every other business, varies," said A. M. Deuber, a manufacturer of watch cases of Canton O., last night at the Henry hotel, "but the present slump in the financial world hasn't yet struck the pendulum of our trade. We hope, however, for brighter times. There seems to be a cry everywhere for money, and of course in this way manufacturers of all kinds are affected, no matter how good their business."

The operating officials of the local lines were somewhat surprised yesterday at the small amount of traffic on account of the Fourth. There was a slight increase in the through business, which is said to have been due to the approach of the national holiday, but the passengers who went out of the city to escape the noise of the Fourth were very few yesterday.

Dr. Roy Hanefield of East Liverpool, O., spent yesterday in the city, being registered at the Seventh Avenue hotel.

FIREWORKS WILL BE BIG FEATURE

Finest Pyrotechnical Display in Years in Schenley Park Tonight.

ROUSING TIME IN ALLEGHENY

The $5,000 fireworks display in Schenley park tonight will be the big feature of Pittsburgh's celebration of independence day. The portraits of Mayor Hays, Roosevelt and Fairbanks and other notables will be seen in fire, and two of the largest bombs ever produced will be sent 3,000 feet in the air and will burst with a report that will be heard 10 miles. Each of these shells are 60 inches in diameter, weighs 250 pounds and will be fired from a mortar that weighs two tons.

Besides the large portraits of Mayor Hays and the Republican national candidates, with the names at the bottom, another set piece will be the American flag, 60 feet long. Other features which have not been seen before in Pittsburgh will be a prismatic fan that opens and closes, 25 feet long, and a revolving fountain, shaped like a water wheel, and about 20 feet in diameter. There will be an immense bombardment of 300 6-pound rockets, each rocket ascending 1,000 feet in the air; 600 8-pound rockets; a volley of 18-inch shells, each shell weighing 70 pounds, and a volley of 6 and 8-inch shells.

Hour and Half Display.

Altogether there will be 32 numbers, and the display will last about an hour and a half, commencing at 8:30 o'clock. Last year's display, which cost $8,000, was limited to 32 numbers. The fireworks will be in front of the house of the Pittsburgh Golf club in the park, where the display took place last year. Around this club house the land forms a natural amphitheater in which over 100,000 people can get a good view. Other points of vantage will be flagstaff hill and the high green hill visible as one enters the park from the library entrance, just around the road from the lily pond, where Neptune reigns.

To reach the flagstaff hill and the hill across from Neptune's statue the Forbes street cars furnish the best means. The golf club house is reached from the Murdoch and Steel entrances and the yellow line of cars offers the speediest means of transportation for residents of the city and the people of Homestead, Duquesne, McKeesport and Braddock.

The fireworks men say that the display furnished by them tonight will exceed in variety, beauty and quantity any Fourth of July pyrotechnical set off in Schenley park. The wind-up will be most striking, for three shells, weighing 120 pounds each, will be set off, one right after the other, so that two acres of sky will be covered with colored stars, spreading out in the shape of incandescent flower pots with millions of burning blossoms of a thousand shades of color.

Covers an Acre of Ground.

Then there are hundreds of smaller shells, hundreds of mines and Roman candles and scores and scores of novelties in fireworks. The 15-foot "pinwheel," revolving on a pin of iron 1½ inches in diameter, with three 6-foot wheels revolving in different directions and the golden fan will furnish old-fashioned effects intensified a thousand fold.

The enclosure from which the fireworks will be set covers about an acre of ground and three frame shanties contain the fireworks. The frames for the 1,200 rockets are already set up and the mortars to discharge the big shells are already planted in the ground.

There will be no celebration in Schenley park during the day. Many private picnics will be held. Mayor Hays has ordered four tons of ice to be sent to the park today to supply the visitors with ice water.

Sports, consisting of foot races and jumping, will be held in Friendship park, Liberty avenue and Martha street, commencing at 10 o'clock this morning.

Big Celebration in Allegheny.

Director Scandrett of Allegheny has all arrangements complete for the big celebration that is to be held on the North side this afternoon and tonight. From Ben Lee, the Chinese merchant of Pittsburgh, the director has secured several boxes of real Chinese fire crackers in bunches of 20,000 each. This peculiar noise creator is not purchasable from local dealers and this addition to the display, to be given in front of city hall, will be a feature.

The stage that has been set up in West park, near the lake, will get its final trimmings of flags and bunting this morning. The vaudeville performance that starts at 3 o'clock includes: B. F. Nixon, gymnast; Prof. Wurzell's exhibition; Prof. Lawrence, magician; sleight of hand performance; Prof. Dodds and his trained dogs; the Lindsay jubilee singers with old plantation melodies and string band accompaniment; Prof. Wurzell's Punch and Judy show.

The program will be followed by a cannonade of aerial bombs that discharge in the air balloons of various shapes. The big pyrotechnic display on Monument hill, commencing at 8:30, includes mammoth meteoric balloons, bomb shell displays and a grand flight of rockets of all colors. Six monster Tourbillions and a wonderful aerial flower-garden will be other features.

Burning of Eiffel Tower.

The burning of Eiffel tower will be one of the most remarkable pieces that has ever been seen here and will be followed by fire pictures of Roosevelt and Fairbanks; Niagara Falls 150 feet in length and a large American flag. The display will be finished with a bombardment of aerial bombs and rockets.

The residents of Observatory hill, in the Lafayette avenue district, have arranged for a private display and have prepared a program of speeches, sports and fireworks. A baseball game will be played at 3:30, the foot races will take place at 7 o'clock and the fireworks will be set off at 9 o'clock.

The weather man promises fair weather for today except occasional showers.

TEMPLARS' TRIP WEST NOW BEING ARRANGED

Committee Appointed Which is Headed by Ex-Mayor William J. Diehl of Pittsburgh.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, July 3.—Details of the visit of Pennsylvania Knights Templars to San Francisco during the annual conclave September 5 to 11, will be arranged by a committee which has just been appointed by Wilson I. Fleming, an attache of the state department, who is at the head of the order in this state.

This committee consists of ex-Mayor William J. Diehl of Pittsburgh; William M. Donaldson, Harrisburg; Frank McSparran, Erie; Herman Junker, Pittsburgh, and Maj. Louis E. Beitler, deputy secretary of the commonwealth. The grand commandery of Pennsylvania will leave Philadelphia for San Francisco under command of Mr. Fleming on August 18.

The committee has arranged that the grand commandery will, on September 5, give the first grand reception of the San Francisco conclave. For this purpose the commandery has engaged the Marble room and Maple room in the Palace hotel. To the Pennsylvania grand commandery has been accorded the distinction of appearing in the grand parade as a division composed exclusively of Pennsylvania knights.

Mr. Fleming says the committee will insist that every sir knight in the Pennsylvania party shall take his full equipment with him and shall so parade.

WABASH SERVICE NOW ESTABLISHED

First Scheduled Trains Were Delayed by Derailment at West Middletown.

MANY PEOPLE VISIT STATION

Without display, the first scheduled passenger train of the Wabash left the Ferry street terminal yesterday morning shortly after 9 o'clock, being delayed on account of the derailing of a west-bound St. Louis train near West Middletown. The first train from St. Louis arrived here at 4 p. m., having aboard over 20 passengers. The regular service opened yesterday, but on account of the accident all trains were delayed. All day long the station was crowded with visitors and the arrival and departure of the trains was watched with much interest. The ticket sale, while not as large as the day before, was encouraging. The service yesterday included the three regular trains to St. Louis and two from that point. There was considerable activity about the station. One of the large elevators was kept going constantly and the ticket agents had their hands full answering questions and giving away time cards. J. W. Patterson, Jr., superintendent of the Wabash Pittsburgh Terminal railroad, has established his headquarters on the second floor of the terminal building and was on hand yesterday keeping tab on the movements. Today he will announce, by circular, the following appointments: E. N. Arthur to be assistant engineer, with headquarters at Pittsburgh; A. R. Edwards, to be road master at this place, and T. P. Bodell, to be superintendent of bridges and buildings with headquarters at Canton. Arthur has been engineer of construction under J. W. Patterson, Sr., and Bodell was superintendent of bridges of the Wheeling & Lake Erie.

Saturday night at 8:30 the Wabash started from here its first passenger train on which tickets were accepted. The train was run on the schedule of No. 19 and was composed of a baggage car, a chair car and three sleepers. At about 9:30, near West Middletown, Washington county, while the train was running about 20 miles an hour, the front trucks of the tender jumped the track derailing all but one car. There was no one injured, however. After a delay of about seven hours the passengers were transferred to a train which was made up at Mingo Junction and proceeded to St. Louis.

The accident was witnessed by Superintendent Patterson. He had accompanied the president's special to Mingo and was returning to Pittsburgh. His train stopped on a siding to allow the regular passenger train to pass. He was standing between the siding and the main line watching the approaching train and saw the trucks leave the track. Superintendent Patterson remained at the scene of the accident until after daylight, supervising the transfer. A wreck train was brought from Mingo and the main line track was partially cleared by 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

"The accident was like many others to which it is difficult to assign a cause," said Superintendent Patterson. "The best proof that it was not a fault of the track is that the president's special passed over the road only a few hours before, in passing the particular spot, I think, the president's special was going at least 35 miles an hour. The damage was inconsequential. The passengers when the train came to a standstill inquired: 'What station is this?' The engine did not even leave the tracks and all of the cars stayed on the crossties. Many of the passengers went back to sleep and it was only a short time afterward before we had everybody aboard another train."

BERT SEXTON DIES FROM HIS WOUND

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 3.—(Special.)—Bert Sexton, night superintendent of the Brown-Bonnell plant of the Republic Iron and Steel Company, who was found shot through the head a week ago, died today. The police are still undetermined whether he took his own life or the work was that of an assassin.

Declaration of Independence

Without resolution things are seldom done. The representatives of the thirteen Colonies declared that they must be independent and they accomplished their independence. In like manner, it is the duty of every wage earner to strike out for himself. The first dollar saved and banked at interest is a declaration of your financial independence.

Resolve, therefore, to AT ONCE open a Savings Account with this bank and add to it regularly. Every dollar deposited will earn Four Per Cent Compound Interest—the same rate this bank has paid for over a quarter of a century.

SCHWITTER WEST-VIEW

IS THE BEST REAL ESTATE THAT INVESTORS CAN PUT THEIR MONEY INTO

IT'S A DELIGHTFUL TRIP ON THE WEST-VIEW, EAST ST. AND MADISON AVE. CARS.

The unequalled natural beauty of the location and the long stretches of perfectly level land would not be so satisfying to the experienced judges, were it not for the quality and the quantity of street improvements and city conveniences already established, to say nothing of the other metropolitan betterments which are in process of construction and will soon be completed.

It gives investors confidence to see hundreds of thousands of dollars being expended for asphalt streets, sanitary sewerage, electric lights, artificial and natural gas mains, and a sand-filtered water plant, possessing the largest standpipe system west of the mountains. When more money is going out of the pockets of the promoters of this property for permanent improvements than they can possibly get back for many months, no matter how fast the lots sell, people are not slow to draw valuable conclusions as to what such an ideal locality is bound to be in the very near future. As to not only what it is bound to be, but also as to what it is bound to be worth.

With prices for beautiful home-sites 30x100 feet and larger ranging as low as the incentive to buy on the part of the person who makes a good, solid investigation of the facts, grows stronger the longer he considers the opportunity.

$50, $75, $100
$150 and $200

You can leave the great Manifold Motor Line out of the question altogether when comparing the real estate of this grand new Perrysville residential city with any other location or part of Greater Pittsburgh, and yet you will see in it an investment that so overshadows everything else in the market that you won't care to buy elsewhere. This is a strong statement, but our own opinion of the property so thoroughly coincides with the opinion of everybody else that we believe the assertion to be a justifiable one.

And when the Great Manifold Motor Line, with its valuable private right-of-ways, its solid-foundationed T-railed double tracks, its innumerable safety devices, and its speed-rate of 45 miles an hour on the self-controlled section of its remarkable roadbed, is reviewed in detail, no one will question that Greater Pittsburgh's most lovely suburban district has been drawn so close to downtown Pittsburgh as to mark such an evolution in city-building progress as may NOT BE APPROACHED AGAIN IN THIS AGE.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS BLAZE THE PROPERTY AT NIGHT.

No other section is being built up as rapidly as this matchless new Perrysville home-place. All you need to do to realize the truth of this statement is to remember that the first and second plans, Keating Vest-View No. 1 and Keating West-View No. 2, were opened for sale only last July.

Now look at the handsome residences that have been built and people living in them. See the others that are being built, and see the building activity that has commenced in the Schwitter Plan. You will notice that the houses which have been built are nice ones. Not cheap or put up "any old way." They are beauties. Styles of architecture that are in keeping with refinement.

SCHWITTER IS A WONDER PARK, WITH A NEW CITY BEING PLANTED IN IT.

This is something also you want to compare with what you see in other allotments. COMPARE! It is a good word to hang to. It will save and make money for you when you come to purchasing real estate. We like the word, because it is doing A GREAT WORK in making Schwitter West-View the most successful real estate proposition that was ever introduced in any market.

Just before the Motor Line cars leave the two Keatings to enter Schwitter glance up to the left. Notice those three magnificent homes going up near the great standpipe. They'd do credit to the tony part of Fifth avenue or to any of the other East End neighborhoods of the millionaires.

STORE CLOSED TODAY

GUSKY'S ENTIRE STOCK HAS BEEN PURCHASED BY US. This entire stock will shortly be placed on sale here at a mere fraction of the former Gusky prices. NO OTHER HOUSE HAS SECURED OR CAN OFFER ANY PART OF THIS STOCK — notwithstanding misleading publications to the contrary. Watch the papers for particulars.

KAUFMANN'S
"THE BIG STORE"

STORE CLOSED TODAY

During July and August
We close daily at 5 P. M.
Excepting Saturdays, when we're open until 6:30 P. M.
This being the closing hour of "The Big Store" on Saturday all the year 'round.

These 100 Specials for Tomorrow

THE day of 100 specials needs no particular introduction to the patrons of "The Big Store"—nor no fine strung arguments to exploit its merits. Every person who has attended one of our previous sales of 100 specials well knows the nature and character of the offerings. They are the kind that are calculated to awaken the interest and enthusiasm and buying spirit of the most disinterested and unconcerned. They are the kind that bring big savings to all that partake of them. All sorts of goods are embraced as every department in the house is represented.

Look over the items carefully. Note the contrast between the selling and value prices. The difference is what you save. It doesn't require an expert in bargains to know that these are among the best "The Big Store" has ever offered.

30% off
The marked prices of all
Men's and boys' clothing
30% off

The effects of this 30% discount sale of men's and boys' clothing are felt in every section of the surrounding country, as many out-of-town folks come here specially to participate in its advantages. And customers need no emphatic assurance that the savings are exactly as stated—for everybody knows our methods and manner of doing business—and the scrupulousness that invests every act and transaction of "The Big Store." This sale comprehends our entire stock of men's and boys' clothing; not a garment is exempt except the full dress apparel, uniforms and liveries. So make your selection of suit, topcoat, raincoat and trousers and pay us 30% less than the marked price. And we again repeat (for we cannot say it too often) that as our regular prices are 20% below all others, this 30% discount is equivalent to a discount of 50%—thus the saving is in actuality greater than one at first realizes.

GAMES TODAY (A. M. AND P. M.)

Chicago at Exposition Park.
Brooklyn at Boston.
Philadelphia at New York.
Cincinnati at St. Louis.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., July 3.—Patrick Flaherty, late of Chicago, a southpaw of much nerve and many deceptive curves and a corking good baseball head, proved the undoing of the Reds in today's game. Not only did Sir Patrick perform in so capable a manner as to prevent a single local man from touching home plate, but he was his screeching three-bagger in the fifth inning, while two men were on the bases, which gave the Pirates the two runs which allowed them to win the game.

There was but one misplay in the game, and that did not cost anything. It was a wild throw to third by Hahn, which resulted in Clarke being nailed at the plate by Donlin's good throw. Being caught at the plate was not a parity. It was the Pirates who suffered in this respect, for in the very first inning they had two men nailed at the coveted base and again in the fourth a man perished there.

In the opening round the crowd had many chances to cheer. Leach, the first man up, hit safely. Beaumont sacrificed to Hahn, and Leach, by great sprinting reached third base on the play. Clarke hit to Huggins and Leach was caught between home and third, and while he was being run down Clarke hustled around to third.

Leach was finally retired at the plate, and then Hahn, who got the put out, threw to third to catch Clarke, but the throw went wild and Clarke started home. Donlin was backing up, however, and a quick throw by him to Schlei nailed Clarke at the plate, ending the inning.

Donlin singled for the Reds in their half and stole second. Kelley popped up a fly which Ritchey gathered in, and then Seymour scratched a single which Ritchey could not handle. Seymour tried to pilfer and was caught.

After two hands were out in the Reds' half of the second, Corcoran and Schlei singled, but no runs resulted. In the third Donlin drew a pass and stole second with one out, but he could not be advanced. Pittsburgh had another man die at the plate in the fourth.

Beaumont walked as a starter and Clarke struck out. Wagner's out put Beaumont on second and then Phelps singled to center. Seymour gathered in the ball on a run and hurled it to the plate. The throw was wide of the mark, but Schlei made a one-handed stop of it and then put the ball on Beaumont before he reached the plate, retiring the side.

In the fifth it happened. Sebring opened with a hit, but was forced by Ritchey. Smith was hit by a pitched ball and then Flaherty dropped a long fly over Dolan's head, good for three bases, which brought the only two runs scored during the afternoon over the plate. After that both sides got a man on the bases occasionally, but no more runs were scored.

After the second inning the Reds only got one hit off of Flaherty. The score:

Pittsb'gh.	R.	H.	P.	A.	E.	Cincinnati.	R.	H.	P.	A.	E.

Beltzhoovers Willing to Play Glenshaw for $100 a Side.

Managers Smythe and Thomas of the Beltzhoover club deposited $25 at this office last night for the Glenshaw management to cover to find a match for a game between their teams. There was a dispute on the field Saturday afternoon, and the Beltzhoovers retired. The Beltzhoover management wishes to arrange another game, as Glenshaw published a statement that it would play another game for $100 a side.

"If Manager Kinsey of Glenshaw wishes to arrange this game he can meet me at The Gazette office Friday, July 8, at 8 o'clock," said Smythe. "We will play Glenshaw at Schenley park or Homestead or at any other big park."

HARRY M'CHESNEY TO JOIN CHICAGO NATIONAL CLUB

Jimmy Ryan Says Pittsburgher Is Best Outfielder in Western League.

OTHER TEAMS WANT HIM

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

DES MOINES, IA., July 3.—Harry McChesney of Pittsburgh, who is playing a sensational game in the outfield and at the bat for Des Moines, will probably soon join the Chicago National League club. President Hart and Manager Selee of Chicago have made overtures to the local management for McChesney's release, and it is feared by the local fans that the young Pittsburgher will leave here soon for the big league.

Two other big league clubs are after McChesney, Jimmy Ryan, the former Chicago captain, very strongly recommended McChesney to Chicago, saying that he is the best hitting and fielding outfielder in the Western league. McChesney was secured by Des Moines from the Homestead, Pa., Independent club.

John Lobert, the Pittsburgh third baseman, is putting up a good game for Des Moines and Pitcher Cushman is winning a majority of his games.

HURDLE RACING BY H. L. HILLMAN

Champion Gives Advice to Beginners in Art of Sport, and About Training for Event.

GYM. WORK IS BENEFICIAL

By H. L. HILLMAN, JR.,
(American Champion, 1902.)

Hurdle racing is one of the events in athletics which finds great popularity with the young athlete, who is full of snap and energy.

While it is hard to lay down any absolute rules in order to secure success as a hurdler, owing to the diversity of styles used by the athlete in starting and negotiating the hurdles, there is much in a general way which all must observe if they expect ever to lead at the tape in this class of sport.

The first thing a novice at this game needs to learn is to clear the hurdle in orthodox fashion, which will make his course as smooth as possible and devoid of any semblance of a halt in clearing the obstacle. Supposing the regulation two feet six inches hurdles are being used, the best way to become proficient is to practice going over the hurdle with two or three strides, making sure that the jump is made in the proper way, and wasting as little energy as possible. It might be well to have the top of the hurdle loose, to avoid a fall.

The correct way to clear the hurdle is to take off well away from it, and draw up the opposite foot from which you spring, which is usually the left, so that it passes over the hurdle first and is ready to put to the ground for another stride as soon as you are over. The leg from which you jump should be extended behind and lifted as much as possible, to avoid hitting the hurdle.

Don't jump too high; rather endeavor to traverse as great a distance as possible each time you leave the ground. Take great care that the foot that reaches the ground first after clearing the hurdle strikes the ground straight forward, otherwise a sprained ankle may be the result. The arms are a very important factor to a hurdler, and they should be used both for lifting the body at the jumps and also to balance the body while going over. In practicing over the hurdles it is well to bandage the jumping foot, so as to save scraping if it should touch the hurdle. Having found out how many strides it takes you from the starting line to the first hurdle, practice starts and take the hurdle in the proper style.

If the crouch is properly performed when going over the hurdles you are bound to land on the other side in such a position that there will be no fall, but the run, jump and the run will be continuous. Unless this is done in a proper style no boy can ever hope to excel in hurdle racing.

As soon as the first hurdle can be taken without hesitation, find out if you can make the distances between that and the next hurdle in the usual seven strides. If not, practice it in nine, until you can negotiate the second hurdle without a halt. The distance being the same between all the other hurdles as between the first and the second, the flight can then be tried, and improvement becomes a matter of perseverance. In a 220-yard hurdle race there are seven flights, two feet six inches in height, 20 yards from the start to the first hurdle and 20 yards between each hurdle.

It is not necessary in training to run the full distance every day. A race is often won over the first two hurdles. If these are properly taken and you do not tire yourself out in the attempt, the rest of the race is a matter of so many strides and a jump, repeated until the tape is reached. Speed and condition are the only other factors in such a race. Quarter mile running helps greatly to strengthen a hurdler in making a good finish. Be careful not to overtrain, as the man who is fit and fresh has an enormous advantage in this event over one who is "stale." Gymnasium work will be found very beneficial to the hurdler, especially free exercises and pulley work, that help to strengthen the abdominal muscles.

Smoking must not be indulged in, as it affects the wind. For a similar reason pastry and candy should be avoided, as they interfere with the condition of the stomach. It is essential for the racer that his stomach be in good condition. With the exception of these two things almost any food can be eaten, and if the runner feels he needs any stimulant, a raw egg swallowed whole will be very beneficial. On no account take any alcoholic liquor. For hurdle racing always wear regular jumping shoes, with spikes in the heels. This will prevent any slipping after clearing the hurdle.

A boy learning to hurdle is liable to get discouraged at first, but if he sticks to it he will eventually take a great interest in this branch of sport.

ITALIAN LOAFERS ARE RAIDED BY POLICE

East End Officers Arrest 34 Foreigners for Loitering on Street Corner.

A crusade against corner loafing was inaugurated yesterday by the police of the East End district and as a result 34 Italians were arrested last night at Larimer avenue and Meadow street. The prisoners were no sooner in the station house than 300 of their friends swarmed about the place, blocking traffic in Frankstown avenue until a detail of officers cleared the thoroughfare.

Of late there have been many complaints to the police that hundreds of foreigners have been in the habit of loitering in Larimer avenue and Meadow street. They gathered in such numbers that pedestrians were often forced to take the middle of the street. So bold did the loafers become that when anyone would attempt to push through the crowds that person would be assaulted.

Inspector Bailey arranged yesterday to catch them napping. He sent Patrolmen Johnston, Luzell and Toole in plain clothes to the corner where the loafing was the worst. The officers ordered the Italians to move, but received only curses in return.

Drawing their revolvers they rounded up 19 of the foreigners and sent them to the East End police station. Half an hour later they gathered in 15 more. The arrests caused all kinds of excitement in the Italian district and about half the population started for the police station to get their friends out on forfeits.

They arrived just as Sergeant O'Neil was sending out the night police, and when informed that they would have to wait for a few minutes some of the foreigners became threatening. They were driven from the station house and within a few minutes so large a crowd had gathered in Frankstown avenue that the street cars were blocked. It was several minutes before the street could be cleared and then the Italians who had money for their friends were made to line up and admitted to the station house in squads.

At midnight every one of the 34 prisoners had been released on forfeits of $15 each or a hearing this morning before Magistrate Negley.

Jacob Anchinsky of 1202 Gibbon street, who, it is claimed, is demented, interrupted the service at a Hebrew synagogue at Townsend street, yesterday morning. He refused to be quieted and was arrested. He was later turned over to relatives.

WILL TIE UP ROAD.

All Employes of Youngstown and Sharon Line Will Go Out if Strike Is Not Settled.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 3.—(Special.)—According to the announcement made by W. D. Mahon, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway employes, a decided stand will be taken in the matter of the strike of the firemen and engineers at the power house of the Youngstown & Sharon Power and Light Company on Tuesday.

The action expected, the calling out of all linemen, electricians, motormen and conductors, tying up the system from this city to Sharon and New Castle.

A meeting of the company has been called in New York to consider the situation. The leaders of the strike have agreed to do nothing until after Tuesday.

Mrs. Nulton's Will Contested.

KITTANNING, PA., July 3.—(Special.)—A petition has been presented in the court of common pleas asking for a rule to show cause why the will of the late Mrs. Margaret Nulton should not be declared invalid, on the grounds that she was mentally incapacitated from executing a will by reason of her advanced age, and that she was unduly influenced by her daughter. The rule was granted by Judge Patton and made returnable the first Monday in August. The Nulton estate is estimated at $50,000.

Two women on Socialist Ticket.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 3.—(Special.)—The Socialists have nominated a ticket for the coming election, naming candidates for all the offices to be filled. Two women were named on the board of education ticket.

Independents to Be Busy Today. Homestead Plays the Turtle Creek Athletics.

GOSSIP ANENT THE PLAYERS

The Independents will be busy today. Homestead plays two games with the Turtle Creek Valley athletics. The morning game will be played at Homestead with Upp pitching and in the afternoon the teams will go to Turtle Creek, where Lew Moren will be on the rubber for Risher.

The Interscholastics play a double-header with Burgess Ed. Hickey's Millvale crowd at Millvale. The school boys are playing great ball. They won at Morgantown and from the Turtle Creek Valley athletics last week. Don Doyle will pitch the morning game at Millvale. P. A. C. goes to Youngstown to hook up with Marty Hogan's Ohio works team in a double-header.

About the Players.

Walter Orbin is playing the outfield for the Atlantic City team.

Shortstop Sneeden of Grove City college has joined the Jamestown-Celeron team. Solon Sixsmith of Homestead is playing first on the same team.

Manager Jimmy Breen of the Warren, O., team has been chosen to coach the Grove City college candidates next spring. Breen coached the team last spring and turned out a winning outfit.

"Joe Steen made a beaut of a home-run yesterday at Rochester," said Lew Wentz yesterday. "He sent the ball like a shot through a wire screen in middle field. The ball went so fast that it tore a hole in the screen."

Burt Hamilton of the South Side has won eight and lost three games for the Albany, New York, State League club. Three of his wins were shutouts.

There are few young second basemen doing better work than "Ling" Moffet, the Fall River baseball boy, now with the Interscholastics.

Kerr Price has been made captain of the Steel Works team of McKeesport. He is working in an office there. Tom Uptegraf also of Shadyside, has succeeded him as captain of the Interscholastics.

Homestead plays at Waynesburg Tuesday and Wednesday, at Washington, Thursday, and at Youngstown, Friday and Saturday.

Pittsburgh National share of receipts at Homestead last Thursday was over $450.

FAILURE AS PITCHER, PAT DOUGHERTY LATER IS FAMOUS

NATION'S NATAL DAY IS PRODUCTIVE OF ATHLETICS

Baseball There Will Be Galore and Golfers Will Be Also Busy.

Does Not Make Good at Homestead, but Goes Into Minors and Develops Into a Star.

MURNANE GIVES HIS OPINION

This is the day that those athletically inclined are in their element, as this nation's natal day is undoubtedly the best of the year for athletic contests. In Pittsburgh baseball, the national sport, predominates and indeed it will reign today. There will be two games at Exposition park between Pittsburgh and Chicago, and the amateurs will be on every available lot.

The golfers will also have a busy day. The schedule follows:

Allegheny Country club—Two cup competitions, morning and afternoon.

Brighton Country club—Mixed foursomes in the morning and men's handicap in the afternoon.

Country Club of Pittsburgh—Eighteen-hole handicap for cup offered by E. H. Brainard, approaching and putting contest for cup offered by J. N. Anderson, fourth day's play for president's cup and sweepstakes.

Edgewood Golf club—Match play rounds first and second eights for president's and secretary's cups.

Edgeworth club—Handicap for Edgeworth club cup.

Westmoreland Country club—Men's handicap for subscription cup.

Mueller Goes to Jersey City.

SHARON, PA., July 3.—(Special.)—Pitcher Mueller of Milwaukee, who has been doing star work with the Sharon team since he came here about five weeks ago, has left to join the Jersey City team in the Eastern league. Pitcher Wasley, who has been playing with the Chambersburg team for the last three years, has been signed by Manager Moyer and joined the club here today. He will pitch one of the games tomorrow against the Euclid Beach Park team of Cleveland.

Mr. Murnane Gives His Opinion.

Several years ago, when Pat Dougherty was on the payroll of the Homestead L. A. C. as a pitcher, scarcely one person who attended the games at Steel Works park thought him a big league possibility as a twirler.

Dougherty was fast on his feet, a hard hitter and fine base runner; but he wanted to pitch, and because he did not come up to the standard Manager Risher released him. Dougherty went to the New England league and made good as a fielder. He got into the big league, and today he is one of the most talked of players in the business, because of his ability, and then again on account of the deal which sent him from Boston, where he helped so much to win the American League championship and the title for the world, to New York. Tim Murnane, the well known Boston writer, says of Dougherty's leaving:

"Pat Dougherty was a great factor in the winning of games last season, and Boston will miss his run-getting qualities from now on. He was the best hitter and run-getter on the team and impossible to replace. His loss has had the natural effect of waking up the other teams."

LATH OF WIDOW OF FAMOUS MAN

Mrs. Rosetta Rickey Hostetter Dies in Allegheny After Two Years' Illness.

HER DEMISE WAS UNEXPECTED

Mrs. Rosetta Rickey Hostetter, widow of David Hostetter, who was one of Pittsburgh's distinguished business men, financiers and railroad projectors over 16 years ago, and the first manufacturer of the "Hostetter's Bitters," died last evening at her home, 1127 Western avenue, Allegheny, after an illness of two years. Mrs. Hostetter was 75 years of age. While she had been ill for a long time, her death was somewhat unexpected by her relatives. Her son was at his summer home on the Massachusetts coast and was given last night of his mother's death.

Mrs. Hostetter was the daughter of Randall Rickey, a prominent resident of Philadelphia, and later of Cincinnati. She was married to David Hostetter in Cincinnati on July 12, 1854, and was the mother of four sons and one daughter, of whom only two children survive—D. Herbert Hostetter of 4848 Fifth avenue, Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Herbert Dupuy of 1109 Western avenue, Allegheny. She also leaves three sisters and a brother.

After graduating from the Heidelberg university in 1877 the eldest son, Harry, went on a year's travel through Europe, accompanied by his mother, sister and younger brother. In Florence the sister was seized with the Roman fever. When she began convalescent Harry was stricken with the same disease and died on the way to Paris. The third son died a few years afterward.

David Hostetter died November 6, 1888, in New York, after undergoing an operation for a malignant disease he had suffered for five years. He was a native of Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, and was 69 years of age when he died. He made his mark as the first manufacturer of "Hostetter's Bitters," the formula for which he had been furnished from his father, a physician, D. Herbert Hostetter, the son of the founder, is now president of the company which manufactures this medicine.

Mrs. Hostetter was prominent in local society and was identified with a number of leading organizations, including the Daughters of the American Revolution and Daughters of the War of 1812, her great grandfather and her grandfather having served in those early struggles. Like her husband, Mrs. Hostetter was much inclined to charity, and to its object she contributed liberally.

THE REV. DR. EATON MAY MAKE CHANGE

Pastor of North Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church Allegheny Favors Madison, Wis.

The Rev. Dr. E. L. Eaton, pastor of the North Avenue Methodist Episcopal church of Allegheny, will probably sever his connection with that church in the fall and accept an appointment that is likely to be tendered him at Madison, Wis. His successor may be the Rev. Dr. A. W. Falker, with whom Dr. Eaton has, it is said, expressed a willingness to exchange charges. Dr. Falker, who at present fills the pulpit of the Madison, Wis., church, has preached before the North avenue congregation on two different occasions recently, and has made a favorable impression.

As no official action has been taken in the matter yet neither Dr. Eaton nor the members of the official board can be induced to say anything. When spoken to yesterday Dr. Eaton acknowledged that the exchange had been considered, but declared nothing definite had been decided upon. Harvey Henderson, one of the official board, was asked last night if Dr. Eaton would leave the church and replied:

"That is something I cannot say at present. It is true that a change in pastors has been spoken of in the church but the matter is as yet in a tentative state. Personally, I think Dr. Eaton will remain, although I believe he desires to make this change. He was born and reared in the west. His home is there and 20 years ago he was pastor of the Madison church. It has been known for some time that he wished to return to his old home, but whether he will or not is something to be decided in the future."

Dr. Eaton has been pastor of the North avenue church for the past three years.

DRINK HIS RUIN.

Because He Could Not Stop, Lieut. Garber Committed Suicide at Honolulu.

HONOLULU, July 3.—First Lieut. Clifford S. Garber of the United States army, committed suicide here today, shooting himself in the mouth. Garber had been out with some companions. He left the following note:

"It's no use; I cannot stop drinking."

He left a check for $120 to the order of a friend, First Lieut. Alden Trotter of the artillery, and another check for $50 for his company funds. His accounts are straight. Garber's home was at Madison, Wis.

GENDARMES WOUNDED IN DOCK STRIKE RIOT

BREST, FRANCE, July 3.—Rioting took place here today during a parade of the dock strikers. The rioters were charged by gendarmes, who drew their bayonets. Ten of the gendarmes were wounded. Many of the strikers were arrested.

Driller's Fit Was Fatal.

Samuel Coolbot, an oil well driller, died at the Allegheny General hospital yesterday morning. He fell in a fit on Saturday morning at the corner of Federal and Lacock streets, and was rendered unconscious, never recovering afterward. He was 50 years old and had been employed at Leetsdale. His home was said to be in Steubenville, where his son-in-law, Edward Pauley, is the manager of the Follansbee tin plate works.

ONE OF TAMMANY CROWD DRINKS NOT NOR SMOKES

Commissioner Bruckner of Bronx Is Abstemious Brave—Controller Grout of New York Thinks Congressman Williams Vice Presidential Timber.

A Tammany brave who neither drinks nor smokes, never did drink or smoke and "never will drink or smoke, so help me," was a feature of the two trainloads of Tammany warriors who passed through Pittsburgh on the way to St. Louis last night. It was Henry Bruckner, commissioner of public works of Bronx borough, greater New York; the lieutenant of Haffen, president of Bronx borough, Haffen being one of the triumvirate that succeeded the temporary leader, Lewis Nixon, and preceded the present leader, Charles F. Murphy. Mr. Bruckner paced up and down the Union station platform in his shirt sleeves and minus a collar, stretching his legs while the train waited.

"Tammany will support the Democratic nominee, whoever he may be," said Commissioner Bruckner. "Personally I am for Parker, but I am not a delegate. In fact, several of our Tammany delegates are for Parker, although our leader and the organization are against Parker. But although the organization is against Parker, it will support him loyally if he should be nominated. Parker could carry New York state, I have no doubt.

"There were two trains carrying the Kings county (Brooklyn) delegation, and aboard one of the trains was the controller of greater New York, Edward M. Grout. Grout said:

"Of course the Kings county delegation is for Parker and, anyhow, the state delegation was instructed for him. Parker may be nominated on the first ballot, but I look for his nomination on the second or third ballot."

"How about the nominee for vice president? John Sharpe Williams has been talked of."

"He would make an excellent candidate," said Mr. Grout. "It seems to me that the south is entitled to the vice presidential nomination, and Williams would be a good selection for the convention to make. If Parker should be nominated and Williams has no chance, I suppose a man from the middle west will be taken."

Among the 12 Brooklyn delegates and alternates to the convention were Grout, Luke Stapleton, Congressman P. E. Wilson, James Kane, John J. Brady, George Waligrove, Fielding Marshall and Congressman Goulden.

Among the few Tammany delegates on the Tammany train sections were B. J. Martin, John Oakley and Maurice Featherston.

State Senator Walter C. Burton of Brooklyn said there had been considerable talk of Grout for the Democratic nomination for governor of New York. The state convention will be held in September. Mr. Grout's train had pulled out before Burton spoke, but Commissioner Bruckner of Tammany said Grout was not a candidate. Ex-Senator Hill controlled the Democracy of New York state, he said, and he would not be surprised if Hill picked upon Grout as a winner.

"Grout is a splendid man," said Bruckner; "a brainy fellow, too. He is the brains of the New York board of estimates, and New Yorkers have the most perfect confidence in his ability, honesty and integrity."

CONDEMNED MEN BAPTIZED IN JAIL

Murderers Ousley and Johnson Immersed in the Prison Bath Tubs.

DEATH WATCH SET UPON THEM

Frank Ousley and John Johnson, negroes, who are to be executed July 14 for the murder of James Donnelly on last New Year's eve, were baptized in the Allegheny county jail yesterday by the Rev. J. W. Lee of the Wylie avenue M. E. church. The death watch has been placed on them and the men will be guarded continually until they are led to the gallows. The baptismal services were conducted in the bath rooms of the jail. The men were immersed in a bath tub, after brief services.

Ousley and Johnson have been penitent for some time. When they were first admitted to jail they refused religious consolation. After Gov. Pennypacker set the day for their execution both men have became thoughtful. During May they asked Warden Lewis to send them a minister. Mr. Lee has been constantly with the men since.

During their early incarceration Ousley was jolly and happy. He laughed at fear. Johnson was sullen and morose. After their conferences with Mr. Lee they became serious, and now most of their time is spent in reading the Bible.

Ousley will be led to the scaffold first, as he was the man who fired the shot that killed Donnelly. Johnson, who stood guard at the door at the time of the shooting, will follow him in death, few days later.

The case for which the men are to die was one of the most cruel murders that has taken place in this city for years. Donnelly was proprietor of a grocery store at 2219 Bedford avenue. On New Year's eve Ousley, Johnson and Robert Childs entered the store about 9 o'clock for the purpose of robbery. Ousley asked for a loaf of bread. As Donnelly went to get it Childs stepped behind the counter to rob the cash drawer. Donnelly saw him make this move and rushed at him. Ousley drew a revolver and shot Donnelly twice, the wounds proving fatal. A few days later Ousley and Johnson were captured. Childs escaped to the south and has never been apprehended. Ousley and Johnson were tried together and found guilty of murder in the first degree.

TRAIN CRUSHES BUGGY; ONE KILLED, TWO HURT

Three Young People Out for a Drive Fall to Hear Whistle of Locomotive.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WOOSTER, O., July 3.—In a grade crossing accident at Orrville this evening one was killed, another was seriously injured and a third was slightly hurt.

THE DEAD.

MISS PAULINE GILMAN, killed almost instantly.

THE INJURED.

JACOB EICHAR, cut and bruised.

The three were in a buggy. Eichar was driving and sat on the knees of the two women. They were laughing and chatting and did not hear a Wheeling & Lake Erie passenger train rushing toward them as they were about to cross the tracks.

The horse had stepped across the first rail when Eichar heard the whistle of the approaching engine and realized their danger. He applied the whip, but it was too late. The locomotive struck the buggy and hurled it to one side. The occupants were thrown into the air.

Miss Gilman died a few minutes after she was picked up. Miss Hershberger was unconscious but revived after she was taken to her home. Eichar, who leaped just as the crash came, escaped with bruises that are not serious.

It is thought Miss Hershberger is injured internally, and her name may be added to the death list.

ASKS CROKER'S AID.

Van Wyck Seeks Help at Wantage to Change Attitude of Delegation at St. Louis.

WANTAGE, ENGLAND, July 3.—Robert A. Van Wyck, the first mayor of greater New York, visited Richard Croker at his home here today. Mr. Van Wyck urged the ex-chief of Tammany to use his influence with the New York delegation to the Democratic national convention at St. Louis to induce it to swing its vote from Alton B. Parker to Grover Cleveland, after a complimentary ballot had been given for Parker.

Mr. Van Wyck intended to remain at Wantage until Monday, but suddenly curtailed his visit.

Mr. Croker, after the interview with Mr. Van Wyck, was asked if he had anything to say regarding the coming Democratic national convention.

"Convention?" said Mr. Croker, guilelessly, "when is it to be held? I do not know anything about it. Moreover, my views on politics can have no interest for the people of the United States. I am not in politics, and have not been since I left America. I have no intention to say or to do anything with regard to the campaign. Other than this I have no expression of opinion to make to anyone."

THEFT OF BEER CAUSES DEATH

Alfred Thumwood of Oil City Is Dead and Edward Lynch Under Arrest.

THAT THEY FOUGHT, ADMITTED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

OIL CITY, PA., July 3.—In a fight over the alleged theft of a case of beer late Saturday night, Alfred Thumwood, 30 years old, was killed, and Edward Lynch, 19 years old, is held to await the action of the coroner's jury.

Thumwood, who was a well known iron molder, accused Lynch of stealing the beer from the cellar of his home, and the two came to blows. Early this morning Thumwood's body was found near the National Tube Company's works with the skull fractured and the head and face covered with bruises.

It was known that there had been an altercation, and suspicion at once fell upon Lynch. An officer went to Lynch's home and placed the boy under arrest.

Lynch admitted that he and Thumwood had gone to the spot where the body was found to fight, but denies that he struck the other man with anything but his clenched fist. He says they were alone when the fight took place. Both men bore good reputations.

District Attorney McBride and Coroner Wilson have ordered an autopsy and an inquest will be held on Tuesday.

YOUTH'S LEG SHATTERED BY FIRING TOY CANE

Son of Detective Fitzgerald and Three Companions Hurt While Celebrating.

As a result of firing a toy cane heavily charged with gunpowder Thomas Fitzgerald, a son of the late Detective Patrick Fitzgerald, is at his home, 246 Forty-fifth street, with a badly shattered leg and three companions were slightly injured. Young Fitzgerald, with Albert Getty, Joseph Noble and Norman Smelz, all of whom live in Hazelwood, were in Homestead Saturday night and Fitzgerald carried one of the toy canes fired by striking on the sidewalk. He placed a heavy charge of gunpowder in the implement and while in the midst of his companions struck it on the sidewalk. The explosion shattered the cane into fragments and the cast iron mechanism on the end struck Fitzgerald on the leg. His three companions were burned about the legs.

SOCIALISTS NAME TICKET.

J. N. Eskey of Huntington Is Nominated for Governor of West Virginia.

WHEELING, W. VA., July 3.—(Special.)—The first state ticket ever nominated by the Socialists of West Virginia was named at McMechen today. There were 30 delegates representing 11 counties in the convention.

To secure the ticket a place on the official ballot at least 1,000 voters must sign a petition to the secretary of state expressing their intention to support the ticket which follows: Governor, J. N. Eskey, Huntington; secretary of state, C. K. Weaver, Preston county; superintendent of schools, C. A. McAllister, Wetzel county; treasurer, F. A. Zimmerman, Marshall county; auditor, C. E. Groves, Marion county; congress, first district, H. A. Leeds, Marshall county; third district, G. L. Bulbaugh, Kanawha county; fourth district, Henry Burks, Cabell county.

Nominations for attorney general and judge of the supreme court will be made by the state committee.

BISHOP CANEVIN DEMANDS KEYS

Would Close Croatian Church Until Threats of Scandal Are Entirely Hushed.

MEETING TO BE HELD TODAY

Coadjutor Bishop Canevin has taken a hand in the strife that has existed for several months in the congregation of St. Nicholas Roman Catholic church of Allegheny, and has sent a formal demand for the keys of their handsome house of worship in Locust street, Ohio. This letter from Bishop Canevin was read to the parishioners, who form the only Croatian church on the North Side, yesterday morning after mass by the rector, Bosiljko Bekovac, and caused a sensation.

The excitement of the church members was increased considerably when the janitor of the building, acting under the instructions of the official board of the church, refused to surrender the keys to an assistant of the Rev. Father Bekovac. One of the members of the controlling board of the congregation immediately after this had a conversation over the telephone with Bishop Canevin, and a conference between the latter and the official board was arranged for 9 o'clock this morning. Both sides of the case are then to be heard, and it is said either a complete adjustment of the difficulty or the resignation of Pastor Bekovac will result.

Since the rebuilding of St. Nicholas church about two years ago there has been dissatisfaction manifest at times in the congregation. The trouble had its origin in the formation of a stock company composed of many of the church members who subscribed the $40,000 with which the new building was erected. Those who contributed were to be reimbursed from time to time out of the church funds, subsequently collected. Some months ago several members interested endeavored to have withdrawn the amounts they subscribed, and meeting with obstacles in this, they took their case to court. It was said by those favoring the Rev. Father Bekovac that there was not sufficient money in the church funds to meet the demands of the members who sought to withdraw their subscriptions.

These cases are pending, and as there has evidently been an increase, rather than a diminution of the trouble recently, Bishop Canevin in a letter to the Rev. Father Bekovac requested that the church keys be turned over to him until matters had been amicably settled. According to several of those seen last night Bishop Canevin has been misinformed regarding the exact conditions existing in the parish and was apparently not offended that his demand had met with opposition.

"This trouble is nothing more than a fight with the pastor on one side and the parish on the other," asserted one member last night. "There has been misrepresentation, if nothing worse practiced, and this affair is either going to be entirely hushed up at once or a terrible scandal will be made public."

What the scandal is could not be learned, as the church authorities refuse to talk until they have met Bishop Canevin and laid the whole case before him.

MAJORITY OF DELEGATES ARE AGAINST CLEVELAND

New Jersey Men Decide Not to Make Aggressive Campaign, Murphy for Him.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, July 3.—From a poll of the various state delegations that will be represented in the Democratic national convention, it appears that former President Grover Cleveland is the second choice of 324 delegates and 476 are positively against his nomination, and the preferences of 10 could not be learned tonight. This computation disregards the unit rule and attempts to give the individual preferences of the delegates, it is based on the supposition that the attempt to defeat the nomination of Judge Parker, which would be the first step toward the nomination of Mr. Cleveland, will succeed.

All possibility of the formal presentation of the name of Mr. Cleveland in the convention appeared to vanish when the New Jersey delegation arrived today and announced that in all probability that delegation would not make an aggressive campaign in the interest of the ex-president. This decision was reached at a meeting held today on the train as it approached St. Louis. Seventeen of the 24 delegates are for Mr. Cleveland, but they decided not to press his name unless there should appear to be a good prospect of his nomination. Seven of the New Jersey delegates are for Parker, but no effort has been made to reach a decision as to a candidate in case a definite conclusion not to present Mr. Cleveland's name is reached.

Former Comptroller James H. Eckles also declined to be voted for, saying that New Jersey would be represented by Mr. Cleveland's name would be presented. "I won't say that there will be a formal nomination, but I am sure that when Mr. Cleveland's name is mentioned it will be received with enthusiasm."

Being pressed for a more definite announcement he could only say: "I am sure we will have a conservative ticket on a conservative platform."

Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, said in part, tonight: "My position now is what it has constantly been. I have said and still say that, in my opinion, Mr. Cleveland, so far as the state of New York is concerned, would be the strongest candidate the convention could name. It may be that in the country at large some other candidate might be stronger than Mr. Cleveland. I am speaking only of my own state and with a sincere desire for Democratic success. If I at this moment believed that Judge Parker would be as strong before the people of the state of New York as Mr. Cleveland would be, I should be the first to urge his nomination, notwithstanding the unrest against instructions at the state convention."

Men from the far west have been making quite an active canvass for former Senator George Turner for vice president, and the names of Marshall Field of Chicago, Benjamin F. Shively of Indiana, John W. Kern of Indiana, David R. Francis of Missouri, David S. Rose of Wisconsin, and John Sharpe Williams of Mississippi, are among those whose names are mentioned in connection with the second place on the ticket.

FIREWORKS BURN BOY'S CLOTHING AND HE DIES

From an Exploding Pinwheel He Caught Fire, and Inhaling Flame Died in Agony.

Hugh McGreevey, 12 years old, who died at his home, Franklin and First streets, Port Perry, last evening, was a victim of careless handling of fireworks. Saturday night, McGreevey, with several companions, was shooting firecrackers and setting off other fireworks in front of his home.

A pinwheel, which had been attached to a fence, whirled about a few times, and then its shower of sparks ceased. McGreevey, thinking it had gone out, detached it from the fence, and with the pin between his fingers, held it near his face. It suddenly began to revolve again and shot out a stream of fire that ignited the boy's clothing. In an instant he was ablaze.

His companions were too terrified to give him any help, and in a few moments the boy's entire upper clothing was burned from his body. His face was scorched, and he inhaled the flames. He was taken into the house and died in pain last evening.

He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McGreevey, the former of whom is foreman at a coal dipple of the Union railroad at Port Perry.

Speedy will do a special diving act; the cyclists will give an extra performance and the other attractions will be continuous from early in the morning until as late Tuesday morning as the people wishes to see the sights.

Serious Fire at Parkersburg.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., July 3.—(Special.)—Fire, which started simultaneously in the warerooms of W. L. Boreman, druggist, and the Chancellor Hardware Company this afternoon, came near burning one of the principal business blocks in town and caused a loss of about $10,000. Within 100 feet of where these fires started a dozen fires have been started in the last year, all apparently of incendiary origin.

NEW LIFE GIVEN TO MR. DOOLEY

Dispenser of Wit, Wisdom and Wet Goods Returns to His Calling.

HENNESSY IS STILL WITH HIM

Finley Peter Dunne gives the following account of his famous character, Mr. Dooley, who, after two years' silence, will make his reappearance next Sunday, July 16, exclusively in the editorial section of The Sunday Gazette.

Archey road stretches back for miles from the heart of an ugly city to the cabbage gardens that gave the maker of the seal his opportunity to call the city "urbs in horto." Somewhere between the two—that is to say, forninst the gas house and beyant Healey's slough and not far from the polis station—lives Martin Dooley, doctor of philosophy.

There was a time when Archey road was purely Irish. But the Huns, turned back from the Adriatic and the stockyards and overrunning Archey road, have nearly exhausted the original population—not driven them out as they drove out less vigorous races, with thick clubs and short spears, but edged them out with the more biting weapons of modern civilization—overworked and undereaten them into more languid surroundings remote from the tanks of the gashouse and the blast furnace of the rolling-mill.

But Mr. Dooley remains, and enough remain with him to save the Archey road. In this community you can hear all the various accents of Ireland, from the awkward brogue of the "far-downer" to the mild and alay Elizabethan English of the southern Irishman, and all the exquiste variations to be heard between Armagh and Barry Roy. To one these their would naturally arise from substituting cinders and sulphuretted hydrogen for soft misty air and peat smoke. Here also you can see the wakes and christenings, the marriages and funerals, and the other fetes of the oil country somewhat modified and darkened by American usage. The banshee has been heard many times in Archey road. On the eve of All Saints' day it is well known that here alone the pookies play tricks in cabbage gardens. In 1893 it was reported that Malachi Dempsey was called "by the other people" and disappeared west of the tracks and never came back.

A simple people! "Simple, says ye," remarked Mr. Dooley. "Simple like th' air or th' deep sea. Not complicated like a watch that stops whin th' shoot iv clothes ye got it with wears out. Whin Father Butler wr-rote a book he niver finished, he said simplicity was not wearin' all ye had on ye'er shirt front, like a tinhorn gambler with his di'mon' stud. An' 'tis so."

The barbarians around them are moderately but firmly governed, encouraged to passionate votings for the ruling race, but restrained from the immoral pursuit of office.

The most generous, thoughful, honest and chaste people in the world are these friends of mine. Special privilege is an impediment; moral, but giving no heed at all to patented political moralities.

Among them lives and prospers the traveler, archaeologist, historian, social observer, saloon-keeper, economist, and philosopher who has not been out of the ward for twenty-five years "but twist." He reads the newspapers with solemn care, heartily hates them, and accepts all they print for the sake of drowning Hennessy's rising protests against his logic. From spring to autumn, from dusk to dawn in Archey road, uninterrupted by the jarring noises of crickets and cows, he observes the passing show and meditates thereon. His impressions are transferred to the desinitized plate of Mr. Hennessy's mind, where they can do no harm.

"There's no better place to see what's goin' on in the Ar-rchey road," says Mr. Dooley. "Whin the illetric cars is hummin' down th' street an' th' blast goin' sthrong at the mills, th' noise is that gr-reat ye can't think.

He is opulent in good advice, as becomes a man of his station, for he has mastered most of the obstacles in a business career, and by leading a prudent and temperate life has established himself so well that he owns his own house and furniture, and is only slightly behind on his license. It would be indelicate to give statistics as to his age, Mr. Hennessy says he was a "grown man whin the pikes was out in forty-eight, and I was hedge high, an' I'm near fifty-five." Mr. Dooley says Mr. Hennessy is eighty. He closes discussion on his own age with a remark, "I'm old enough to know better." He has served his country with distinction. His conduct of the important office of captain of his precinct (1873-75) was highly commended, and there was some talk of nominating him for alderman. At the expiration of his term he was personally thanked by the Hon. M. McGee, at one time a member of the central committee. But the activity of public life was unsuited to a man of Mr. Dooley's tastes and, while he continues to view the political situation always with interest and sometimes with alarm, he has resolutely declined to leave the bar for the forum. His early experience gave him wisdom in discussing public affairs. "Politics," he says, "ain't been a bar. 'Tis a man's game, an' women, childher, an' pro-hybitionists'd do well to keep out iv it." Again he remarks, "As Shakespeare says, 'Oh' men fr the council, young men fr th' ward.'"

AST SERVICES IN OLD CHURCH

Second Presbyterian Congregation Says Farewell After 44 Years' Worship.

BUILDING WAS DECORATED

Closing services in the old Second Presbyterian church, Penn avenue and Seventh street, were held yesterday. The church was handsomely decorated with flowers, potted plants and national colors. Both evening and morning services were largely attended, while the communion service, held in the morning, was the largest in the 100 years' history of the congregation. Following a reception to new, former and present members, the pastor, the Rev. S. Edward Young, preached in the morning on "Tears and Shouts for the Sanctuary," taking for his text Ezra iii:xii, "Many that had seen the first house, when the foundation of this house was laid before their eyes, wept with a loud voice; and many shouted aloud for joy." He said in part:

"What emotions enshrine our well-beloved sanctuary, whose lips can tell? Emotions like fountains gathering where no outlet is, emotions that can only be felt and wept and sung and prayed. It is not bone, its ties, its timbers, its bricks, its mortar into which is being fixed the strong bodies, brave hearts and noble minds, with a chance for the presidency in every dinner bucket. Alas that it should be so! Is it not that man the veriest slave—my neighbor—who works for his living, is held just opposite and drove his lad upon the streets? Is that father a patriot? Does he not read sign the Declaration of Independence against the sentiment regarding the father, crippling a little patriot and a splendid future? This is a fact and can be verified up and down the avenue over and over again.

"In the gospel of John we find that death is staring every man as the wages of sin. In Luke man is looked upon as a sinner and needs remission of sins, and this is made known to him in the establishment of the Church of Christ on Pentecost A. D. 33. In Mark man is sick and needs healthfulness or salvation. In Matthew man is looked upon as a rebel to the authority of the world and Pharaoh, the King of all Kings, the Lord Jesus Christ.

"To get man to sign the Declaration of Independence that he believes with all his heart that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, his preferred opportunity and every Christian's chief business every Christian in the land. 'Seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you.' The church stands for the purest and noblest patriotism, and hence is the mortal enemy of every institution that robs a man of his God-given independence. Thank God for the men who have fought for liberty, such a Heroism of devotion and have become a blessing and not a curse to home and society.

Thirteenth Anniversary of Pastorate.

The Rev. John Weidley, pastor of Bethany Lutheran church, North Highland avenue, celebrated the 13th anniversary of his pastorate yesterday and delivered a special sermon, reviewing the church history during that time.

To Lay Corner Stone Today.

The corner stone of the Polish Roman Catholic church at Homestead will be laid this afternoon with impressive ceremonies, during which the Rev. Father Robert McDonald of Charierot will officiate.

CORNER STONE WAS LAID.

Duquesne Will Soon Have a Handsome Greek Catholic Church.

The corner stone of the new $40,000 church of the St. Nicholas Greek Catholic congregation at Duquesne was laid yesterday. Coadjutor Bishop Canevin was master of ceremonies. Solemn high mass was solemnized at 11 o'clock in the morning, and at 1 o'clock in the afternoon nearly 3,000 people marched in a parade, which included 17 Greek societies from Duquesne, Braddock, McKeesport, Homestead and other towns in the Turtle Creek and Monongahela valleys. There were five brass bands in the line. In the ceremonies attending the corner stone laying, Bishop Canevin was assisted by about 30 priests from other parishes.

The church, in Vicia street, will be one of the finest in Duquesne when completed. The congregation, which was organized about 10 years ago, now occupies a building in Oak street. The new edifice will be of brick and stone and will be ready for dedication in the fall.

Alleghenian Sued for $10,000.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 3.—(Special.)—Solomon Cross of Allegheny, a large owner of property in and around Petersburg, this county, has been sued by J. L. Bowers for $10,000, alleging that Cross wrote to Emery F. Lynn of this city regarding Bowers: "That any man that is mean enough to poison my stock had better keep away from me."

Pictures the Pit from Which the Christian Is Saved by Faith.

STABILITY OF CHARACTER

Bible House Chapel was filled to overflowing yesterday afternoon. Pastor Russell mentioned the basket picnic of Millenial Dawn readers to be held today at Rhododendron grove, Highland park. He hoped that many of the friends would be present and find it a favorable opportunity for becoming more intimately acquainted with each other amid the beauties of nature. His text was "He brought me up also out of a horrible pit, out of the miry clay, and set my feet upon a rock, and established my goings. And he hath put a new song in my mouth, even praise unto our God."—Psa. 40: 2, 3. He said:

How graphic is this picture of the condition of the sinner—helpless in a pit from which he cannot extricate himself, and his feet sinking deeper and deeper while he struggles for his deliverance! How delicate is the illustration, setting forth the awful degradation of the various degradations and vices to which our fallen condition more and more tends, our text avoids any rude or crude mention. The force of right quashes will follow and what a longing for the kingdom of righteousness, the kingdom of God's dear Son, to be established according to divine promise, and that through its power we be engendered in him of participation with Christ as members of His body, members of His bride, in that glorious kingdom. "Fear not, little flock, it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom"—the kingdom which, as the seed of Abraham, shall shortly bless the whole world of mankind.—Gal. iii: 29.

The "Double-Minded Man."

Our text declares that God "establishes the goings" of the class it describes, the class who by faith are lifted from the pit of sin and death to the rock, Christ Jesus. The character of that thorough conversion to the Lord is more or less remarkable in proportion to the degree of previous defilement in the miry clay of sin; but it is remarkable, nevertheless, in every instance especially to the individual himself. After accepting the Lord's favor and realizing an adoption into His family, and grasping to some extent the great and precious promises of God's word, there is usually a feebleness and purpose and will not known previously. It is this stability of character which is referred to in our text, "He established my goings."

The difficulty with many who have made a start for righteousness is that, receiving the traditions of men instead of the testimonies of God's word, they have not clearly understood what they were doing—they have not clearly understood the sense in which they were washed from their own sins. As a consequence we must not be surprised that many are in a measure ignorant of the fact that even those who have gone before us, there are certain additional parts that we now may enjoy. By this we do not mean that the song has changed, for we still sing the same old story—that through the merit of the precious blood—we still sing of the love that bought us and the love that keeps us; but now approximately the end is drawing so as to see the dispensation nears, and with the eye of faith, through the word of God as the telescope, we are enabled more and more distinctly to see the glorious things of the kingdom of God's dear Son which are shortly to burst upon the world—a flood of light and blessing.

It is the song of Moses and the Lamb because, in divine providence, Moses and the law (and the covenant thereby instituted) typified the blessings of God which are to come to the world through the Lamb. "The new song does not, in any degree, place God's favor in the past, but shows the features of the law to have been foreshadowings and types of the good things to follow. The Apostle Paul clearly refers to this when he says that "the law was a shadow of good things coming afterward, but the substance is of Christ." Christ brings in the realities, the antitypes of good things which, by divine arrangement, Moses and the sacrifices typified.

The Apostle Peter calls the same matter to our attention, for when speaking of the second coming of Christ and the great blessing from the heavenly Father that would thus come to mankind, and the great "times of restitution of all things spoken by the mouth of all the holy prophets since the world began," which would immediately follow the second advent of our Lord, he declares further that it will be during this kingdom of Christ to be established at His second advent that Moses spoke when he said, "A prophet (teacher) shall the Lord your God raise up unto you of your brethren like unto me. Him shall ye hear in all things (the whole world shall hear the message of divine love speaking peace through Jesus Christ in all its fullness), and it shall come to pass that every soul (individual) that will not hear (obey) that Prophet (teacher, king, judge) shall be destroyed from among His people"—the second death.—Acts. iii:19-23.

Harping on the "Harp."

If, then, we see how Moses and his dispensation were a shadow of the glories of glory and His millennial kingdom, we will see that the song which the Lord's people at the present time may raise will be in full accord with the spirit and letter of the whole books of Moses down to the last message of the New Testament. The Word of God is indeed the great harp which gives the tune to which the saints may sing, and sing in the praises. Every prophecy, every book, is a string in this harp. It has long been discordant because unstrung; but now, in divine providence, we have come to the time for song, we have the divine plan of the ages, and we find that with the various strings keyed into harmony the music surpasses our every hope and expectation.

Let us note the sentiment of this new strain added to the song of the Lord's people. The record is: "They sing the song of Moses, the servant of God, and the song of the Lamb, saying, 'Great and marvelous are Thy works, Lord God Almighty; just and true are Thy ways, Thou King of Saints.'" Never before had the Lord's people been able to sing this strain only to the full at the present time, and in the light of the dawning of the new dispensation which is to bring order out of all the confusion of the present time and to subjugate the reign of sin and death to the reign for the "reign of sin unto death"—only from this standpoint can any really appreciate the marvelousness of the divine operations of the present and see how just and true are all His righteous working together for good both to the Lord's saints and ultimately to the world of mankind.

But there is another verse added to the song, which reads: "Who shall not fear Thee, O Lord, and glorify Thy name? for Thou only art holy; for all nations shall come and worship before Thee, because Thy judgments are made manifest." Only now can the Lord's saints sing this verse—only in the light of the dawning of the morning can we realize with clearness that the time is coming that all the world shall reverence the Lord. Once, when the smoke of the dark ages beclouding our vision, we supposed that the great majority of the race to go from reverencing the Lord in the future, would subject Him to the torture, in which they would curse Him and blaspheme His name; but now by the Lord's grace the light of our understanding are opening, and we are more and more coming to see that "every knee must bow and every tongue confess" to the glory of the Lord and that those who then refuse the ways of the Lord shall be blotted out of existence and thus cease blasphemers of the ground. More and more we are coming to appreciate that under that new condition of things "all nations shall come and worship before Him," and that eventually the Lord's promise shall be fulfilled, that every creature in heaven and in earth shall be heard praising our God and our King. The last statement of our song is the expectation of the whole matter. "Thy righteous acts will be made manifest" to all of His creatures, and this will be the reason why eventually all nations shall worship before Him.

The implication is that all those who shall enjoy that blessing of knowledge of God which, during the millennium, we are assured will "fill the earth as the waters cover the sea" (face of the great deep)—all those shall by that grace, by that blessing, be enabled to join with those who now, in advance, are enlightened, and who now sing the song, and who also may sing and make melody in their hearts to the Lord, and that they also may join in every feature of that song—they also may be lifted from the horrible pit and miry clay and have their feet set upon the rock and be established in their goings, that they also may have this new song in their mouths and glorify the God of heaven, and that they every one may be perfect gift, and our Lord Jesus, through whom all the Father's blessings are bestowed.

Independence Day Referred to in Many Pulpits in Song and Sermon.

The spirit of Independence day prevailed in the churches yesterday. With rare exception reference to the day was made from every pulpit while in most churches at least one patriotic sermon was delivered while appropriate music was rendered as well.

In the Fourth Avenue Baptist church last night a service was held for G. A. R. veterans. The church was appropriately decorated while special patriotic songs were sung by a large chorus choir. The pastor, the Rev. Dr. Warren G. Partridge, preached a patriotic sermon and took for his text, Nehemiah XII:43. "Also that day they offered great sacrifices and rejoiced for God had made them rejoice with great joy." He said in part:

"The true patriot has sorrow when his country is in danger either from inward evils or outward foes. Jesus wept over Jerusalem and took for his text, 'Peace, Jerusalem,' and the divine man looking upon the city of Jerusalem in its glory and its sin and He weeps over its wickedness and folly. When the younger William Pitt was on his deathbed soon after the victories of Napoleon and Admiral Nelson the last words he spoke, very soon before his death, were these: 'My country. Oh, my country.' John Hampden's last words, just before the fatal shot, as he received a slight at the beginning of the civil war, were: 'O Lord, save my bleeding country.'

"We need in America today just as devoted patriotism as in the days of the past. True love of country is a noble attachment to the state or nation where we live and do our life-work. It places a new emphasis upon the idea of citizenship. It is a reverent affection for native land and like reverent affection for God springs from love to God and fellowman. True patriotism will make sacrifices for country. Think of the sacrifices Abraham Lincoln made for his country at the time of the war which prompted Abra Kohn of Chicago in February, 1861, to send Mr. Lincoln on the eve of his starting for Washington an Anesboro flag bearing upon its silken folds these words from the Bible in the first chapter of Joshua: 'Have I not commanded thee, be strong and of good courage. Be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed, for the Lord our God is with thee, whithersoever thou goest. There shall no man be able to stand before thee all the days of thy life.'

"True patriotism is practical. It will work for the betterment of the city. It involves civic pride and civic righteousness. It will seek to dethrone the influence of the boodler in municipal life. We need in American cities a sober and conscientious citizenship. Society must teach patriotism to the rising generation.

PATRIOTIC SERVICES IN MANY LOCAL CHURCHES

FORMER COUNCILMAN IS IN JAIL AT MERCER

John Sharp of South Sharon Is Arrested at New Castle on Several Charges.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SHARON, PA., July 3.—Former Councilman John Sharp of South Sharon, who fled last September to escape arrest on charges of soliciting bribes, maintaining a gambling house and affording the proprietress of a disorderly house immunity from arrest, was captured in New Castle last night and Chief of Police Henry Summer of South Sharon took him to Mercer jail today.

The accused councilman stated publicly that no one dared to make an information against him, and when the investigation was made of the charges he was unseated. The following day Alois Michler, a citizen of South Sharon, went before Justice Alfred Williams of Sharon and made the informations.

The warrants were placed in the hands of the South Sharon police, but before they could be served Sharp disappeared.

NEW CASTLE WOMEN TO EDIT NEWSPAPER

NEW CASTLE, PA., July 3.—(Special.)—The women of the First Baptist church of this city will issue a women's edition of a local daily paper Friday, October 7. The proceeds will be devoted to a $20,000 addition to the church. Mrs. Frank M. Jones has been chosen as editor-in-chief and she has selected the following assistants: Miss Sarah Jones, Miss Mollie Jones, Miss Inez Watt, Mrs. Eugene Clark, Mrs. George Lewis, Mrs. James Moses, Miss Anna Kennedy, Mrs. J. D. Brown, Mrs. Frank Kelly, Mrs. Martin Hoover.

Early Toy Pistol Victim.

John Buell, aged 19, was taken to the West Penn hospital yesterday from Pitcairn with a bullet wound in his jaw, caused by the accidental discharge of a toy pistol. The wound is not dangerous.

BANQUETS AND A PARADE FEATURES OF DEDICATION

Exercises Held in the New Church of the First Hungarian Reformed Congregation—Farewell to the Old House of Worship.

Two banquets and a parade were among the features of the dedication of the new church and parsonage of the First Hungarian Reformed congregation in Johnston avenue, Hazelwood, yesterday.

The services began at 10 a. m. with a farewell sermon and prayer service in the old church in Bates street, conducted by the Rev. Narcissy of Chicago. This was followed by a parade in which 1,500 members of the Hungarian Protestant societies of the district of the city participated. The route was down Bates street to Second avenue, to Johnston avenue. When the new church was reached the assemblage gathered around the outside of the structure while the Rev. A. D. Sanders of Irwin, superintendent of the Reformed church, turned the keys over to the pastor, the Rev. A. Kallassay.

The church building was then entered by as many as could gain admission and the dedicatory exercises proper began. These consisted of the reading of the scriptural description of the dedication of Solomon's temple by the Rev. Harsenyi of Pittsburgh, followed by prayer by the Rev. Canteros of Cleveland. The sermon was delivered by the Rev. Virag of Trenton. The Rev. Doubeny of Sharon baptized two children and the exercises were brought to a close with prayer by the Rev. Kovacs and communion service presided over by the Rev. Kosme.

After the church dedication all adjourned to the new parsonage, adjoining which was then dedicated with a prayer and address by Rev. Harsenyi.

The remainder of the day was devoted to a banquet to the visiting ministers at 3 p. m. and a general banquet to all the members of the church at 7 p. m. Both were served by the women of the congregation in the Bates street church.

The church was organized 12 years ago by the Rev. Dr. J. H. Prugh of the Grace Reformed church and is the oldest Hungarian Protestant church in the United States. The congregation now numbers 500 communicants. The new building was begun about one year ago. The main auditorium is 48x58 feet and will seat 400 persons. The church and parsonage are of white brick with sand stone trimmings. The pulpit furniture, organ and carpets are a gift of the members of the congregation. The two buildings cost $37,000, all of which is provided for.

LABOR ORDINANCE CAUSES TROUBLE

Dispute Over Legality of John R. Henrick's Measure Results in Split Among Politicians.

WYMAN DOES NOT FAVOR IT

There is trouble among the Allegheny administration leaders that threatens to change the complexion of several councilmanic candidates next spring. John R. Henricks, member of common from the Eleventh ward, is responsible for the strife. Henricks succeeded at the last meeting of select council in having passed a measure that authorizes the director of public works to lay mains in 30 city streets and engage the labor for the work; the cost is estimated at $40,000. It is stipulated, however, that only residents of Allegheny be employed, the intention being, according to the author of the bill, to give work to hundreds of North Siders who have been idle for months.

When the ordinance was first introduced Director McIlvain objected to it, and, after consulting City Solicitor Porter, informed the finance committee that the measure was illegal. Henricks succeeded in getting enough votes in common to pass the ordinance after that body had refused to concur in the action of the committee which negatively recommended it. Its final passage was opposed by McIlvain and Porter, and, although Mayor Wyman signed the bill, it was known that he did not favor the bill. Now he threatens to veto it, and it is on this point that political friends threaten to break bonds that have bound them fast for years.

Director McIlvain declares that the charter ordinance specifically states that contracts shall be let for all city work, and that to make it impossible to advertise for bids and to refuse recognition to contractors is going without the bounds of the statutes.

"The measure is a useless one so far as I can understand it," said the director. "Even though it was drawn right in for purpose, for no one can get Americans to work in a ditch, and that's just what this work is. I have been a contractor all my life and understand such things better perhaps than some other people. When the time comes to do the work I will be compelled to advertise for foreigners to dig the trenches and lay the pipes, while those who supported this measure in their simplicity will imagine that through their kindness hundreds of deserving but poor American citizens are swinging picks and shovels in improving the city water district. I only say this in case any delay in getting the work started, and the only result of the passage of this ordinance will be some extra work for me and my assistants."

Henricks asserts that he has nothing but the welfare of the workingmen of the city at heart. Councilman Kirby was seen yesterday but had nothing to say when he left the office. Evidently he was not well pleased.

PASTOR MAKES PLEA FOR TEACHERS' WAGE INCREASE

The Rev. Dr. W. B. Slutz Talks on Responsibilities of the Youths' Instructors.

"Our Public Schools and Their Teachers" was the sermon theme of the Rev. Dr. W. B. Slutz in the Lincoln Avenue Methpdist Episcopal church last night. The pastor took up the wage question, and said, in part:

The prime object of both the church and the school is to make good citizens. If anything short of that motive exists in either institution, in that same degree is our national peril. The only reliable and final test of every institution is the equality of character it produces. Hence is the chief glory of our public school system rests in the fact that it is an efficient aid in making intelligent, good citizens of our youth. It would be suicidal to eliminate the speech and the Bible as a text book from the schools.

Egypt, Greece and Rome saw their day of power fade and die because learning was denied the populace. Is popular education in so small to our liking, Philistine, that we take better care of our teachers? This inquiry is very pertinent just now in Pittsburgh. We are always pleased to keep before the public the proud fact that our city is the commercial center of the world, but we hang our heads in shame when we learn that forty American cities each pay their school teachers more than we do. Sleepy Philadelphia has recently increased the salaries of her efficient corps of teachers for the training of children than the Quaker City.

What are some reasons why our teachers should be better paid? First, the laborer is worthy of his hire. Grain workers find their task much more exhaustive than that of the artisan. This is the universal testimony of those who have done both. If you interview the carpenter, the plumber, the bricklayer, the stonecutter, the bookkeeper, the typewriter and the stenographer you will find each receive a larger stipend than the teacher and guardian of your child. The wage of the day laborer has increased nearly 50 per cent in 15 years, while the salaries of teachers have scarcely increased at all. Observing business men tell us the cost of living is 40 per cent higher than it was 15 years ago. I am sure it will not get much higher, for then it would be out of the reach of most people. But there is still another reason why I plead for an increase of salaries for our teachers. With the rapid increase of educational advantages in Pittsburgh, there will come a demand for a higher grade of efficiency in our teaching force and only those who have the ambition and means to gratify that ambition by thoroughly preparing themselves will be capable of meeting the demands.

At present this is impossible for a large per cent of our city teachers. Under the tempter of long hours of child-wearied nation builders and I am certain many are really handicapped because of their meager income and are greatly humiliated that they cannot afford to better qualify themselves for their responsible work. Often the nobility, the greatness of the task and the responsibility of the teacher, are we not willing they shall have adequate support?

ROBBED AND MURDERED NEAR STEUBENVILLE

STEUBENVILLE, O., July 3.—(Special.)—Michael Betz, a laborer at Follansbee, was struck with a club and his skull crushed while he was walking on the Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Youghiogheny railroad track near the ferry landing here last night. His assailants took his watch and money and fled. Betz died this morning. A companion fled when the robber approached him. Betz was 30 years old.

THOUSANDS SEEK PROMISED LAND

Many People in Bonesteel, S. D., to Draw Lots for Indian Country.

FINE TRACT OF TERRITORY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BONESTEEL, S. D., July 3.—Thousands of people are in this booming little city today, eagerly awaiting a chance Tuesday to participate in the government lottery, in which the prizes are one hundred and sixty acre farms. On that day the government will open the great Rosebud reservation for settlers.

Every train reaching this city is crowded with men, with their families, which will, on Tuesday, register and file his application for a share in the grand drawing. Many will be disappointed when the allotment, which takes place on July 28, is made known, but the winners will be the proud possessors of farms that are worth from $3,000 to $4,000, without improvements.

Bonesteel is unable to care for its vast crowd of visitors, and in consequence many are sleeping in improvised tents on the prairie, while others find lodging for 50 cents a night in a hurriedly constructed "bunk house." The town a year ago boasted 300 inhabitants. Today it has 40,000. Of those who have arrived during the last week may be counted. Saloons represent the largest number of business enterprises, and each has its great back room, where poker, faro, roulette, bridge and Klondike furnish "amusement" for the prospective settler and a varied assortment of humanity which hopes to accumulate a fortune in the new country.

Bonesteel is two and a half miles east of the line of the Rosebud reservation. Although the railroad has its terminus at the line, trains are only run to Bonesteel. As soon as the reservation is opened the line will be extended to the other side and towns located at advantageous points.

The country in the immediate vicinity of Bonesteel to the east, north and south has been settled for 14 years, and the result is a very thrifty class of farmers, with fine houses and outbuildings, well cultivated land and fine stock. Within a radius of 10 miles that is not valued at from $5,000 to $10,000. The drawing will be in charge of three disinterested persons, by lot and under the personal supervision and direction of the commissioner of the general land office.

The Rosebud reservation is a beautiful tract of land, well watered by innumerable small streams. It is almost level, and one can see for miles in any direction.

STRAY SHOT KILLS CAMPER.

City Official of Louisville Victim of Kentucky Style of Celebrating Fourth.

LOUISVILLE, KY., July 3.—R. Lee Suter, a member of the board of public safety, an attorney and for several years an important figure in Democratic politics, was shot and killed today by Sanford Vaughn, a Republican, while celebrating the Fourth.

The tragedy occurred eight miles above Louisville, where Suter and a party of friends were camping and fishing. Suter was asleep on a cot, and the bullet passed through the tent. Vaughn was brought to Louisville, but died to death in a few hours at the city hospital.

Vaughn was driving along the river road and, according to the statements of three young men with him, was shooting from side to side, one of the bullets finding its way to the river bank where Suter's tent was pitched.

IN THE TRACTION PARKS.

Good Performances Entertained the Large Sunday Crowds of Visitors.

With first-class vocal and instrumental music to entertain them, patrons of the trolley parks yesterday had plenty of diversion at Calhoun park. The Sells & Downs circus band played afternoon and evening, and several of the numbers called forth encores. The Four American Trumpeters, father, mother and two daughters, proved a very good feature. Bryant & Savilles' minstrels gave almost the whole show they presented last week at Southern park, eliminating only the dancing and acrobatic portions of their programs.

Nirella's Fourteenth Regiment National Guard of Pennsylvania band played at Oakland. With them were the Lone Star quartet, a colored group of singers. Southern had the Oak Reed band, and Robert C. Lawrence, the entertainer. Major H. H. Hendershot, the drummer of the Sappa band, and the son, J. Hendershot, gave exhibitions of their skill with the drum and fife that were marvelous. These two are wonderful musicians, the younger man being master of every instrument used in an orchestra.

Kennywood had the Homestead Library band for both concerts. On the same program was the cinematograph, which gave pictures of "Faust," "Marguerite" and other old favorites of fiction, as well as scenes from the oriental war, showing fights on the Yalu river, while the dedication exercises at the St. Louis world's fair were shown—the first time they have been seen.

All the parks will have big celebrations today, including free picnics, games and good orchestras for those who wish to dance.

MUST GIVE IN COURT REASONS FOR GUN PLAY

The three men who shot and killed a horse at North Braddock last Friday and were chased several miles by the farmers and police in consequence, were sent to jail yesterday for trial at court. They are Michael Kosmarwitk, Mona Doeplwich and Celis Lucas. Informations were made against them by Frederick Schuman for felonious shooting and by Peter McDonough for carrying concealed weapons before J. G. Richards, justice of the peace of North Braddock.

No Quarrels for Four Months.

Henry Radford was fined $50 and costs and Ella Radford $5 and costs, for quarreling and their home in Muriel street, the police say they are husband and wife. He is white and she is said to be a negress. The woman paid her fine but the man, in default, was sentenced to the workhouse for four months.

GREAT CROWDS ON BOARDWALK

More Than 300,000 Visitors Are Expected to Spend Fourth at Atlantic City.

COOL BREEZES AT THE SHORE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Young's Ocean Pier.
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 3.

A third of a million of people will spend the Fourth at the shore. Nearly that number are here now, and the balance will come tomorrow from Philadelphia, New York and nearby towns and according to a statement given out tonight by the railroad officials not a few will be here from Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania. It was noon today before the baggage platforms at the railroad stations were cleared and the hotel men could give an estimate of the number of visitors in the city. The managers of the boardwalk hotels say that the crowd will remain here, that comparatively few of those who have arrived since Thursday came without trunks and a great majority engaged rooms for at least two weeks.

The weather today was all that any one could wish for. There wasn't a cloud to be seen, and though the sun was somewhat hot, there was a lively sea breeze that kept everybody cool. The beach at the bathing hour was black with people arrayed in bathing suits. Not everyone who dons a bathing robe, it must be remembered, is a bather, as many go to the beach to roll about in the hot sand as go there to sport in the breakers, which today were more rough than ever. The piers are filled to their utmost capacity tonight, and thousands are being turned away. Some idea of the size of the crowd on the piers can be formed from the fact that up to 9 o'clock tonight 44,000 people had paid 5 for admission to Young's pier alone and then there was a jam in front of the three box offices where tickets are sold. The boardwalk is jammed. From the bureau of the Gazette on the front of Young's pier the boardwalk resembles a sea of straw hats.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. MacDonald, J. J. Keyes, Thomas Keyes, Franklin Keyes, M. Keyes and Alfred Johnson are late arrivals at the Lucerne Villa.

W. J. Carlin and David Marlem are spending a short time at the Strand.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Hostetter, C. E. Duncan, Miss Duncan and H. M. Wolfe are guests at Green's.

Among the Pittsburghers on the boardwalk today were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Clark, Miss Leona Clark, Miss Katherine Clark, J. M. Mark, Charles Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Jones and Miss Sidylee Jones.

Malcom McLane and son are registered at Haines' hotel.

William Mangan is spending a few days at the Braddock.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Campbell and Miss Campbell are at the Trefavon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Murphy are spending a fortnight at the Aldine.

J. W. Jamieson is a guest at the Pierrepont.

M. B. Kelly, John Kelly, Mrs. N. S. Wall, Miss Wall and A. B. Wall are registered at the St. Charles hotel.

At the Dunlop are John Johnston, M. F. McNulty, F. W. Patterson and W. H. Larabee.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Jackson, Miss R. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Larned, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Miller and E. McCoothy are guests at Young's hotel.

Capt. B. J. Calley and his daughter are at the Jackson. Mr. Calley came to Atlantic City to arrange entertainment for the Pittsburgh delegates to the meeting of the national council of the Young Men's Institute, which meets here for three days commencing August 15.

The following Pittsburghers registered at the Gazette bureau on Young's pier today: Charles H. Gelffuss, John V. Boergeding, John H. Fisk, Mrs. Fisk, W. D. Harbuss, Mrs. Harbuss, Miss E. M. Fleming, Miss Ester, F. N. Allen, Mrs. Allen, F. M. Jewell, Mrs. Jewell, W. F. Prescott, A. Bryan, Joseph J. Fairley, Mrs. Fairley, Dr. James E. Filan, Mrs. W. J. Brady, Miss Eleiron, Mrs. Herman, M. J. Eurich, Beulah Burns, C. M. Pearson, William F. Wold, H. R. Dunn, George F. Meninger, Carley M. Rau, W. T. Dietrich, Dr. J. Greenwalt, R. H. Ledinger, J. L. Van Ordstrand, John W. Whiffen.

MORTON'S ATTITUDE CAUSES SPECULATION

People Concerned in Naval Policies Wonder Whether He Will Favor General Staff.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Paul Morton of Illinois, who became secretary of the navy on Friday with mind clear of favor or prejudice regarding the service, is anxiously watched by those concerned in naval policies. There is much anxiety to know what position he will take upon the important question of the organization of a general staff. Secretary Moody never believed that the navy department needed more reorganization than could be gained by legalizing the general board, of which Admiral Dewey is president, limiting its members to seven its duties to advising the secretary and making one of its members the constant adviser of the secretary. This bill failed of enactment into law by congress.

That there will be general staff legislation within a year or two is believed certain, for President Roosevelt believes the efficiency of the service requires such an organization. He has recommended its establishment in messages to congress. The president is taking a more active interest in the navy department than in any other. Matters of detail are constantly submitted to his attention. He follows all developments of policy, personnel and material with an eager eye. Orders have just been issued that no change be made in the naval regulations without his express approval.

One of the great drawbacks to efficiency in the service now is the red tape required in the handling of correspondence. Requisitions to the various bureaus from the ships at sea are handled often in a most dilatory manner, due rather to the system than to personal neglect. Officers on duty in the department as a rule are of the opinion that now is the time for a series of marked changes, which will abolish obsolete methods and put the conduct of naval administration upon the clean-cut basis demanded in modern industry.

RUSSIAN TRADE GROWS.

Statistics Show an Increase of Exports and Decrease in Imports.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—(Special.)—Russian trade statistics for 1903, reported by United States Consul Guenther at Frankfort, Germany, show that the exports of agricultural, mining and forestry products is increasing while her importation of manufactured goods, with the exception of certain finished products, is decreasing. The report says, in part, that Russia's foreign trade in 1903 across her European borders amounted to $390,770,000 in imports and $480,131,850 for goods exported. The following are the principal partiepants in this trade:

	Exports.	Imports.
Germany	$119,686,000	$121,385,500
Great Britain	112,270,000	57,080,000
France	26,080,000	14,441,500
Austria-Hungary	18,055,000	117,368,500
Holland	52,015,000	.....
Belgium	22,402,500	.....
Italy	20,200,500	.....

"When I commenced taking your medicines, eighteen months ago, my health was completely broken down," writes Mrs. Cora L. Sunderland, of Chaneyville, Calvert Co., Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room without pains in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had lung trouble, and that I would never be well again. At last I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. I bought a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' took it, and soon commenced to feel a little better, then you directed me to take both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription,' which I did. Altogether I have taken eighteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' twelve bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and five vials of 'Pellets.' I am now almost entirely well, and do all my work without any pain whatever, and can run with more ease than I could formerly walk."

Orphans' Court Sale!

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a decree of the Orphans' Court of Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, at No. 1 November term, 1903, in partition of the estate of George Porter, deceased, the undersigned trustee will expose at public sale as hereinafter set forth on on the premises of Purpart No. 1, at northeasterly corner of Fifth and Anderson avenues, Twentieth ward, Pittsburgh, Pa., Purpart No. 1 of said partition bounded and described as follows, to wit:

Purpart No. 1: All that certain lot or piece of ground situate in the Twentieth ward of the city of Pittsburgh, county of Allegheny, state of Pennsylvania, bounded and described as follows, to wit: Beginning at the northeasterly corner of Fifth avenue and Amberson avenue; thence northwardly along the westerly line of Amberson avenue, 300.24 feet to Westminster street; thence eastwardly along the southerly line of Westminster street, 297.65 feet, to a point, the line of land of J. M. Schoyer; thence southwardly at right angles with Westminster street along said line of McKelvy, 173.01 feet to a point at the northwesterly corner of lot formerly in Allegheny, now of Dilworth; thence southwardly along the westerly line of Harlem, now Dilworth lot, 195 feet to Fifth avenue; thence westwardly along the northerly line of Fifth avenue, 183.74 feet to Amberson avenue at the place of beginning. Containing one and one-half acres of land, more or less. Having thereon erected a three-story brick dwelling house. Being the same lot or piece of ground which Joseph Woods, sheriff, by deed dated to said George Porter by deed dated October 19, 1865, and recorded in Deed Book vol. 188, page 454.

At 3 O'clock P. M. Same Day.

On the premises of Purpart No. 2, Shakespeare street, Twentieth ward, Pittsburgh, Pa., Purparts Nos. 2 and 3 in said partition, bounded and described as follows, to wit:

Purpart No. 2: All that certain lot of ground situate in the Twentieth ward of the city of Pittsburgh, Allegheny county, Penn'a, bounded and described as follows, to wit: Beginning on the south side of Shakespeare street at a point in the line of lot No. 9, in the plan hereinafter mentioned; thence along Shakespeare street easterly 70 feet to the easterly line of lot No. 10, in said plan; thence southerly along the easterly line of lot No. 13, 100 feet southerly to an alley; thence along said alley westerly 75 feet to a pin; thence through lot No. 10 in said plan, 100 feet to the place of beginning, and a fence distant from the line of lot No. 9 in said plan, 100 feet to the place of beginning. Being lots Nos. 11, 12 and 13, and the undivided ¾ of lot No. 10, which adjoins lot No. 11 in plan of lots laid out by Thomas Shakespeare in Middle Plan Book vol. 3, page 10, on which is erected a double two-story brick dwelling embracing two dwelling houses.

Purpart No. 3: All the undivided one-fourth interest in all those three certain pieces or parcels of land situate in Wilkins township, county of Allegheny, state of Pennsylvania, separately bounded and described as follows:

1st. Beginning at the intersection of Pittsburgh and Greensburg turnpike road; thence by land now or late of Robert Stewart, north fifty-seven (57) degrees east eighty-five (85) perches to a white oak; thence by land now or late of Eli Myers, south forty-four (44) degrees east twenty (20) perches to a maple; thence by lot No. 2, hereinafter described south fifty-seven (57) degrees west ninety-one and seven-tenths (91.7) perches to a post on the same turnpike road; thence along said road north twenty (20) degrees west twenty (20) perches to the place of beginning, containing 11 acres and twenty-three (23) perches.

2nd. Beginning at the maple above mentioned and running thence by lot No. 1 hereinbefore described, south fifty-seven (57) degrees west ninety-one and seven-tenths (91.7) perches to a post on the said turnpike road; thence along said road south twenty-six (26) degrees west twenty (20) perches to the place of beginning

STOCK SPECULATION CAME TO PRACTICAL STANDSTILL

Volume of Business Transacted Shrank to Smallest Amount in Decade—No Influences Moved Prices in Either Direction.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 3.—Stock speculation came to a practical standstill in the week just closed. The volume of business trasacted on the New York stock exchange shrunk to the smallest amount in a decade. Prices drifted idly about within an extremely narrow range, gaining nothing and losing nothing. Generally speaking, there was no motive or influence at work moving prices in either direction. Professional traders, who try to test which way the tide of speculative sentiment is running and follow it, found that they had little to guide them. There was no inducement for them to play the game along, for experience has proven that there is neither profit nor pleasure in such operations. As a result, there were such changes as a loss of one-quarter point in Union Pacific on sales of 42,000 shares, the extreme range for the week being one point; Atchison and Southern Pacific traveled within a range of five-eighths, and Pennsylvania, St. Paul, Reading, Baltimore & Ohio, Illinois Central and a dozen standard speculative favorites were similarly unchanged.

Had it not been for the movement in the shares of the local traction properties the stock market would in all probability have made a low record for stock transactions. The advance in the shares of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company, and the Securities Company was accompanied by the time-honored reports of a mammoth consolidation, which would result in centralizing the control of the transportation facilities of Manhattan Island. The management of no one will deny that the completion of such a merger will be a logical business development and will one day be effected.

Notable among the events of the week was the resumption of dividends by the Lehigh Valley, after a lapse of 11 years. A dividend of 1 per cent was declared upon the $40,000,000 common stock, but no intimation was given as to whether or not the dividend declared was a regular quarterly one. It is inferred, however that having begun the payment of dividends, some regular distribution of profits will be made. The action of the directors serves to call attention to the prosperous condition of the anthracite coal carrying roads, as a direct result of the harmonious relationship existing among the various companies. The maintenance of coal prices and freight rates, of course, is one of the most influential factors in the prosperity which all the hard coal carriers have enjoyed. For the Lehigh Valley there is now a bright promise in store, after so prolonged a period of depression. Its finances have within a year been overhauled and ample provision made for the future capital necessities of the corporation. It was a long wait for the stockholders, but with good management and a continuance of the same harmonious relations among the coal carriers, that now exist, there is every reason to believe that the dividend distribution inaugurated last week can be continued without working any disadvantage to the company.

Some interest was shown in the condition of the country's national banks, as recently reported to the treasury department. The full returns were compiled during the week closed, and they are interesting as disclosing the general tendency toward business conservatism. Loans have expanded greatly, compared with a year ago, but the foundation of reserve is much stronger today than it was at this time a year ago, when the stock markets were convulsed by the unprecedented liquidation. Loans increased $180,000,000, and the gain in cash for the year amounted to $103,000,000, two-fifths of which was gained in the last quarter. While the surplus reserves are fortunately strengthened, the load of loans has been increased and this expansion of credits has been effected without curtailing business. It is fortunate, however, that banks are able to employ their funds. In this respect the situation differs from 1893 and 1894.

CAMBRIA COUNTY MINING GROWS

Great Activity in Tract Known as the Barnesboro-Patton Field.

DESCRIPTION OF THE VEINS

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 3.

Within the last two years more new coal mines have been opened in the northern part of Cambria county, Pennsylvania, than during any similar period in the history of the field. In the Barnesboro-Patton coal field, which covers an area of about 80 square miles in the northwest corner of the county, there has recently been great activity in the vicinity of the towns of Barnesboro, Spangler, Bakerton, Carrolltown, Hastings and Patton. Especially timely, then, is a description of this coal field by Mr. John Shober Burrows, of the United States Geological survey, which is contained in the survey's recent bulletin (No. 225) entitled "Contributions to Economic Geology, 1903."

The Barnesboro-Patton coal field is especially fortunate in the facilities at its disposal for the transportation into its product. Both the New York Central and the Pennsylvania railroads run to all the important towns in the field.

Pushed Over County Line.

The recent extension of the Pennsylvania line from Cherrytree westward into Indiana county has pushed the limit of development well over the county line, and already mines are opening up at Pleasant Valley and Possum Glory, nine and seven miles, respectively, west of Barnesboro. This new addition promises to be the most important of the Barnesboro-Patton field, as the coal is reported to be superior to any coal heretofore mined in the region.

The Upper Freeport coal is not very extensively worked except in the vicinity of Barnesboro, where it outcrops in most of the ravines at an altitude of about 1,650 feet. The coal has a columnar structure, is rather hard, shows a bright fracture, and is generally free from sulphur and iron nodules. The bed is from 39 to 44 inches thick. The mines working this coal are seven in number.

The most widely known and extensively developed coal in the field is the lower Freeport. It underlies a large area and is probably best developed in the vicinity of Barnesboro and Spangler, where it is fast being extensively worked.

Thickness of the Bed.

The normal thickness of this bed is nearly four feet. There are about 40 mines in this field working the lower Freeport coal on a commercial scale. Most of them are equipped with the most modern devices.

The upper Kittanning coal bed is known to be of workable thickness only in the eastern part of this field. It was developed first at Hastings, but it is most extensively worked at the present time in the vicinity of Patton, where it has an average thickness of 50 inches.

The outcrop of lower Kittanning coal is confined to a limited area in the vicinity of Bakerton. Extensive prospecting with the diamond drill has shown that this coal is present and probably of workable thickness throughout the entire field. It is regarded as an extremely valuable coal, but it lies too far below the surface to receive much attention until the higher beds are exhausted. The average thickness of this bed is 33 inches.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK IN LOCAL MARKETS

Trade Improves--Vacation Time Hurts Produce--Butter Goes Down.

Mercantile trade showed improvement generally last week; that is, there was better tone compared with several weeks past. Retailers seemed to buy groceries in large quantities and it was in this line that business was better. This condition is usually true, however, but prior to holidays. Other lines of commercial business profited from the same economic status. Flour was weak to steady and sugar was very firm; coffee held strong and further advances may be looked for soon. One wholesale firm reported Saturday that it has received its first car of asparagus. This line of canned goods will rule high this season, quite likely, on account of limited supply. There was an upward tendency in canned meats but advances in some sections were not followed here. Cereals moved freely.

The approach of vacation days has begun to affect the produce business, though it will be felt much more later in the summer. A great deal of money leaves the city in this way that commission merchants generally get through the week closed. Prices were steady and a firm market is anticipated this week. The tendency was upward all through this line; tomatoes ruled strong with light arrivals, cantelopes were in good demand and brought fully prices. A vast amount of new crop fruit came in and was in fair request; Elberta peaches, Arkansas apples, Maryland currants and articles of this kind moved. Receipts being the supply of most of all kinds will be very heavy. Home raised potatoes, cherries, berries and such stock arrived quite freely and will continue to do so now for several weeks. At the close Saturday there was particularly brisk trade on the street, while trade business was slow. Reports showed a total of 45 cars of potatoes, 20 cars of cantelopes, 7 cars of cabbage, 11 cars of cucumbers, 21 cars of watermelons, 10 cars of peaches and 14 cars of tomatoes on track left over. Receipts Saturday were about normal.

Owing to Monday being a holiday the Elgin butter telegram was received yesterday. It announced a reduction of a quarter of a cent and quotations have been changed accordingly. Receipts here are not much heavier and considerable stock was stored, the supply being in excess of local requirements. There was marked shrinkage in the egg supply and trade ruled fairly steady to firm at close of this week. Cheese looked better and commanded good prices. Provisions were in good demand and prices advanced; lard is quoted higher. There was no change in the hay, grain and feed line, all markets being about the same as the week before. There is an almost unparalleled glut in the hay market; there were 27 cars in the Manchester yards Saturday afternoon. No. 1 timothy offered at about $14 all week and the best bid was $13 C. H. Price last week sold a little better, at 40 cents. Very little corn offered; straw was scarce and feed of all kinds was so high that the movement in that line was hardly sufficient to make a market.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

Receipts bulletined Saturday: Pennsylvania, 14 cars hay, 10 cars oats, 1 car corn, 1 car corn and oats, Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 2 cars oats, 1 car hay; Baltimore & Ohio, 4 cars oats, 2 cars hay, 1 car corn, 1 car corn and oats.

IN THE OIL FIELDS.

Operations in the lower southwest fields during the past week were uneventful. The average of wells completed in all fields was up to that of any previous week of the current year, but there was a lack of importance attached to any, either in productiveness or location.

That operators are not meeting with more success is not blamable to the fact that they are not making an earnest effort in every locality that holds out any inducement. In old territory they are searching for extensions to the previous producing limits of various fields and in addition there is a liberal amount of wildcatting. In some instances success has followed the drill in the effort first named, but in searching for strictly new producing territory, far removed from the well-beaten paths the drill has failed to reveal anything tangible that would lead to further research.

The only strictly new development is that near Milton, Cabell county, West Virginia. The last well completed is the Cabell Oil and Gas Company's No. 3 on the E. W. Beckett farm and notwithstanding that it had an initial production of 150 barrels a day after drilled into the Big Lime pay, there is no particular importance attached, for it is but 400 feet from another producer on the same farm.

The production of the new well brought the output of the pool up to 600 barrels a day from the ten producing wells. When it is stated that four of the best wells in the pool are producing more than three-fourths of the aggregate, the importance of the development is greatly reduced. One pleasing feature, however, is that the price of the product has been placed on the same basis as that of Pennsylvania, $1.57. It was formerly quoted at 25 cents below.

It must be admitted that the efforts to extend the producing limits of the producing area of the development have not been gratifying to any extent. This conclusion is reached after nearly a year of close observation of work almost entirely of an experimental nature.

Some operators who have kept in close touch with developments are still hopeful that the Berea grit will prove a producing formation in Cabell county. In each of the wells that proved failures in the Big Lime and were drilled down to the Berea a light showing of oil was encountered. Gas in considerable quantity was found in nearly all of these tests.

It is quite probable that a northeast extension has been found to the fifth sand development, in the old Fairview district, in Marion county. Within the past two years there has been a good deal of money expended with that end in view. While the search was not entirely fruitless, the results were not as satisfactory as was expected.

During the past week, Treat, Crawford & McDermott drilled in a second fifth sand well on the Isaac Ammons farm and have a show for a fine producer. It is thought that after it has been shot it will be good for 100 barrels a day. The lasting qualities of these deep sand wells are features that commend them to operators.

There is another fifth sand development in West Virginia that is coming in fine. It is located along the dividing line between Lewis and Harrison counties and recent discoveries lead to the belief that it will be a pool of considerable dimensions. The wells produce about 90 barrels a day at the start and then settle down to about 20 barrels. However, the conditions at the Crude Oil Company's test on the Keating farm, located to the southwest, have been reversed. This well started at about 90 barrels a day when put to pumping and has for some weeks been increasing its production and is now producing more than 50 barrels a day.

In Harrison and Wetzel counties, the Gordon sand districts had another uneventful week. The wells completed were of a low average in production and dry holes were not absent in nearly all pools. The wells that came in large producers some months ago and up to a short time ago had an individual production of 100 or more barrels a day have now, with a few exceptions, fallen below the 100-barrel mark and are no longer eligible to the list of gauges reported from time to time.

The Littleton district, in Wetzel county, is the most likely to furnish better than average producers. This district has not been fully defined.

The Folsom and Pine Grove districts have not furnished any large wells for several weeks. On the east side of the first named there is room still for some good producers.

The shallow sand districts in Ritchie and Tyler counties are still capable of furnishing some good wells. In the Hoods Creek district, in Ritchie, the No. 3 of Hall, Gelb & Zahrisse was drilled into the Keener early in the week and had an initial production of 220 barrels. While the district has been very fully developed a few of the late wells show that there are proved tracts in the Big Lime and were drilled down to the Berea a light showing of oil was encountered. Gas in considerable quantity was found in nearly all of these tests.

The Three Rivers

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, O., July 3.—The stage of the river at this city was 19.0 feet and rising, making a rise of two feet during the last 24 hours. Clear and pleasant. Sunday's departures were: Courier for Maysville, City of Cincinnati for Louisville, The Kanawha fleet is expected to arrive and Cincinnati tomorrow.

POINT PLEASANT—River 8 feet 1 inch and falling; down, Greenwood, Oakland.

OIL CITY—River 11 inches and falling; clear and pleasant.

WARREN—River four-tenths of a foot, clear and warm.

GALLIPOLIS—River 11 feet and falling; clear and warm.

MORGANTOWN—River 10 feet and falling; weather clear.

GREENSBORO—River 8 feet and falling; fair and warmer; Columbia down Monday morning, Woodward up.

STEUBENVILLE—River 5 feet 10 inches and falling; clear and warm; down, Virginia and Lorena, 7 a. m.; up, Big Kanawha, 7:30 a. m.; Kanawha, 4 p. m.; Keystone State, 7 p. m. the Joseph Williams, on the way up, is tied up at the tipple.

WHEELING—River 6 feet 6 inches and rising, clear and warm; down, Virginia, Cincinnati, Lorena, Zanesville, the Big Kanawha, Kanawha, Keystone State, Pittsburgh.

PARKERSBURG—River 8 feet and rising; clear and warm; the Virginia is due at 6 p. m. for Cincinnati.

The stage of water at Davis Island dam at 9 o'clock last night was 5.1 feet and the river was falling.

PLENTY COAL READY FOR RISE.

Rivermen, generally, spent an idle day yesterday. The water in the three rivers was low and stationary, while the prospect for a rise during the coming week is not encouraging. Nearly every available barge and coalboat stands loaded, ready for the first swell, while a score or more shippers in the coal trade are tied up here. The Tornado and Enterprise came up yesterday, each with a string of empties.

LONDON MARKET HOPEFUL.

Settlement for the End of Half Year Passed Off Successfully.

LONDON, July 3.—(Copyright Cable.)—The city was chiefly concerned during the week with the money market and with affairs incident to the close of the half year. The settlement passed off successfully and with hope developing. The continuation rate on consols—2¼ to 2½ per cent—was regarded as rather stiff, but the state of the account proved satisfactory, and at the week's end sentiment was hopefully inclined concerning gilt edged issues, despite some disposition shown by speculators to take profits. It cannot be said there was any particular increase in general business during the interval. There is no doubt the Bank of England to enable the market to tide over the end of the half year day. Money ran up to 4½ per cent on Thursday. There was a sharp reaction on the following day, when rates of 1½ per cent for call and 1¾ per cent for the week were quoted. Discounts were steady throughout and only a shade firmer, indicating that the high rates for short time funds were simply the result of a flurry.

Slav Miner Shot by Negro After Being Awakened by Him in Early Morning.

STRUCK BY FOUR BULLETS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, PA., July 3.—After fighting desperately, George Uhring, a Slav, aged 31, was shot and instantly killed by Edward Floyd, a negro at Bessemer near Pleasant Unity at 4 o'clock this morning.

Both were employed at the Bessemer Coal Company works at Bessemer, the former as a miner and the negro as a coke drawer. Floyd knew of Uhring's planned trip to his native country to see his wife and children two weeks hence. He is accused of having planned to steal the money. Uhring shared a room with seven other coke workers. At 4 o'clock this morning he was awakened and grappled with the man who awakened him. A desperate battle ensued in the dark. Clinched in each other's arms the two men fought, neither uttering a word.

Uhring began to overpower the negro, when the latter drew a 38 caliber revolver and shot four times. Two bullets entered the chest at such close range that when the others awoke they found his clothing burning. Another bullet struck him in the arm, while a fourth plowed through the muscles of the back. The first two shots were fatal, as they penetrated the lungs.

Floyd escaped from the house but was overtaken by Uhring's countrymen. He was given over to Mine Foreman George Murphy and was later arrested by Constable H. M. Fry of Latrobe.

At Coroner Wyan's investigation Floyd was positively identified as Uhring's assailant by two of the men who shared Uhring's room. It was testified by Mine Foreman Murphy that after Floyd had been captured a revolver with four chambers empty was taken from him and that he begged his keeper to throw away the weapon, for that it was in his power to save him from the gallows.

Floyd was released a short time ago from the Huntingdon reformatory. He is 25 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Westinghouse's Guests.

PITTSFIELD, MASS., July 3.—(Special)—Mr. and Mrs. George Westinghouse are entertaining a Fourth of July house party at "Erskine Park," their beautiful Lenox estate, their guests including President Alexander C. Humphreys of the Stevens Institute of Technology and Mrs. Humphreys and their daughter, Mrs. Sherman Loud, in the evening of the Fourth, Mr. and Mrs. Westinghouse will give a large dinner, to which many of the Lenox cottagers have been bidden. Afterward there will be a dazzling display of fireworks, which will undoubtedly surpass anything hitherto witnessed in Lenox.

RAILROADS HAVE NORMAL FORCES

Officials of Pittsburgh Lines Say Discharged Men Were Supernumeraries.

VERY LITTLE EQUIPMENT IDLE

Reduction of the forces of the Pittsburgh railroads, which has been made within the past three months, brings them to an almost normal condition, as compared with three years ago, instead of seriously crippling the shops and operating departments. Investigation of the local shops proves that while business is not so heavy as it was a year ago, the old men have been retained and thousands of extra employes or laborers have been let go. The latter were taken on during the stress 12 months ago. Many of them had never worked on a railroad before, and, strictly speaking, were not regular employes.

With the Pennsylvania railroad the greatest reduction of forces has been in the mechanical departments, while with the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie the construction end of the road has been cut down. The Baltimore & Ohio has decreased its maintenance of way force most of all. This difference, as an official explained yesterday, is due to the policy of the lines.

In speaking of the situation yesterday, C. L. Gist, superintendent of transportation of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, said:

"As for men, the railroads, generally speaking, are now employing practically the same number as they were at the beginning of the boom two years ago. Most of those who have been discharged were laborers or men on the waiting lists who had been given temporary employment. Of course, there have been cases where engineers have been put back to firing and the conductors to flagging.

"In making reductions some roads will select a certain department for a very large cut. The Lake Erie, for example, has laid off more construction employes than any others, while the shops are running about normally. We might say that every car and engine is being taken care of when repairs are needed."

Mr. Gist was told that at Harrisburg the Pennsylvania has about 1,400 cars waiting for repairs which cannot be made because there are not enough men to do the work.

"Assuming that the figures are right," he said, "there is nothing startling in that. The number is a little large, but it is not unusual for the Pennsylvania, or a line so large as the Pennsylvania, to have nearly as many cars out of repair at one place. The Pennsylvania has, I believe, about 100,000 freight cars. Say that 10 per cent were 'shop cars,' or in need of repairs. That would be 10,000.

"All of these reports about such a tremendous reduction of forces does an immense amount of injury to the railroads. I think if one were to figure out the payrolls it would be easy to disprove many of these absurd statements."

SPECIAL LABOR AGENT IS HERE

Waudby Sent by Government to Pittsburgh to Report on Local Conditions.

SLATED FOR COMMISSIONER

William S. Waudby, special agent of the United States bureau of labor of the department of commerce and labor, has opened a temporary office in room 418 Federal building, and will remain here several weeks for the purpose of reporting to his department the labor conditions in this section. He is one of 22 special agents in the employ of the department who are continuously moving about in various sections of this and other countries furnishing the department with data and statistics bearing on the labor problem.

William S. Waudby.

Mr. Waudby has been a special agent in the department since its inception 20 years ago, and is a most formidable candidate for the position of commissioner of labor, which position is now held by Carroll D. Wright.

He has been indorsed for the position of commissioner of labor by labor organizations in every state in the union and personal letters requesting his appointment have been sent to the president by United States Senators C. M. Depew, T. C. Platt, Boies Penrose and the late M. A. Hanna.

WAR PRISONERS WELL CARED FOR

Bureau of Information Established by Japan for Benefit of Russians.

RECEIVE MANY PRESENTS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The Japanese minister has received an official statement regarding the provisions made in Japan for giving information concerning prisoners of war. For this purpose a bureau of information regarding prisoners of war was established at Tokyo, February 21. Maj.-Gen. Ishimoto, vice minister of war, was appointed chief of the bureau.

Up to the present time a considerable amount of money and a number of articles of various kinds have been sent to the prisoners through the bureau. His majesty, the emperor of Russia, made a donation to four prisoners on the 20th of March last; the Russian church sent to the prisoners a number of gifts received during Lent, and Gen. von Wahl sent his son, through the German legation, the sum of 500 yen. Articles of value and money found on the dead have been forwarded regularly by the bureau to the French legation at Tokyo.

Up to June 9 the number of prisoners brought to Japan was 531, 19 officers and 512 non-commissioned officers and privates. Ten officers and 377 non-commissioned officers and privates were wounded and three privates died after reaching Japan. Three officers and three men belonged to the navy. The majority of the prisoners were captured in the battle of the Yalu. At the present time a number of other prisoners are on the way to Japan from the seat of war.

SUNDAY GAZETTE HAD MANY NEWS FEATURES

From the Convention in St. Louis to War in Manchuria All the News Was Given.

This is the week of the Democratic presidential convention in St. Louis, and The Sunday Gazette yesterday covered the advance news thoroughly. Two staff correspondents were on the ground, and they told how Parker's stock was rising among the delegates; that Guffey could be national chairman if he wanted the job and what the Pennsylvania delegates were doing, with plenty of other convention stuff. The first train over the Wabash, with officers, Pittsburgh and St. Louis left here Saturday and a full account was given.

Among other news was a message from Tokyo that the Japanese had captured Port Arthur and destroyed the Russian fleet there. President Samuel Gompers took charge of the garment workers' strike in New York. National Tin Plate mill at Monessen used open-hearth steel in making tin. Norfolk navy yard will be extensively enlarged by the government. Senor Dupuy de Lome died in Paris.

Hill climbing contest for autos was detailed, with pictures of some of the machines. American Republican club passed resolutions indorsing Roosevelt and Fairbanks and the platform. Open-air plays were given at the Pennsylvania College for Women. Clubwomen will employ a deaconess to call in the district where most of the General Slocum victims resided. About 16 employes of the department of public works were discharged for political reasons. Notable additions are being made to the fine homes in the Sewickley valley.

Russians still hold Delin pass, but Japanese are advancing over an extended front. There is extremely severe depression in the British shipping industry. The American delegation to the Salvation Army congress in London has attracted great attention. New cruiser Colorado made more than 22 knots an hour on builders' trial. Watson is not certain of the Populist nomination for president.

Two of the trio believed to be concerned in the Lancaster county (Pa.) murder are under arrest. Emma Snyder falsified in criminal court after being sentenced two years for shoplifting. Effects of Frederick Tower Company will not be sold by the sheriff, the court ordering them to be turned over to the assignee. Democratic delegates to St. Louis from Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Tammany passed through the city.

The Pirates pounded Harper out of the box and beat the Reds 14 to 2. Lynch, pitched fine ball for the champions. Harvard took the deciding game from Yale 5 to 0 on the Polo grounds. Ort Welles won the big handicap race at Sheepshead Bay, defeating many of the best horses.

New York sports are offering odds that the Jeffries-Munroe fight will not take place. The harness horses showed the speed on the Brunots Island track and fast time was made. The Interscholastic team sprung a surprise by defeating the strong Turtle Creek club.

KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE.

Mrs. Andrew Stauffer of Duquesne Has Skull Fractured and Five Ribs Broken.

While alighting from a street car at Duquesne avenue and Grant street, Duquesne, at 10 o'clock last night, Mrs. Andrew Stauffer, aged 65, of that place was struck by an automobile and seriously injured, dying soon afterward.

The automobile, a large red one, contained two women and two men. Titus Labucus, who gave his address as Pittsburgh, is the owner and was the chauffeur. Mrs. Stauffer was picked up unconscious and was carried to the office of Dr. L. H. Botkin, where her injuries were found to consist of a fractured skull and five broken ribs. She lived but a short time. Labucus was arrested and is confined in the Duquesne lockup.

TWIN HYBRIDS BORN.

Leopardess Gives Birth to Animals Which Are Half Lions.

A leopardess in the menagerie of the Ferari Brothers' show, on the Wabash grounds, South Side, gave birth yesterday morning to a pair of strange hybrids which are a cross between leopards and lions. The father lion and the leopard mother are each about four years of age.

The twin hybrids are about the size of kittens, but have the appearance of leopards more than lions. Their heads are somewhat larger, as the keepers of the Laurence said, than ordinary baby leopards. They are spotted but the keeper claims the spots will largely disappear and when the cubs get older they will resemble lions more than they do now. The father and mother are kept together in a cage with two other lions and a panther.

Bad Blood

Pimples, rashes, eczema, boils, headache, nervousness, debility—these are some of the results of impure blood. Medical authorities agree that impure blood can be made pure and rich. Your doctor will tell you about Ayer's Sarsaparilla. $1.00. All druggists.

Bad blood follows constipation, and constipation follows a sluggish liver. Ayer's Pills are liver pills. They produce natural daily movements in a natural way.

TWO DIVISIONS ARE ADVANCING

Japanese Are Sending Large Force Upon Liao-Yang from Fen Shui Pass.

ARMIES CLOSER TOGETHER

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, July 3.—According to a dispatch to the Central News from Mukden, dated July 3, it is reported that the Japanese are moving two divisions upon Liao-Yang from Fen Shui pass.

CHEFOO, July 3.—(11:55 p. m.)—A small Japanese force occupied Kaiping on June 23, and found the Russians had fallen back to Tai Tche Kiao. The Japanese expect that a big battle would be fought at Tai Tche Kiao, but in other quarters it is believed that the Russians probably will retreat to Liao-Yang, as otherwise they would be cut off at Hai Cheng by the Takushan division of the Japanese army. It is possible that this already has occurred, as the Takushan division was within striking distance of Hai Cheng a week ago.

The Russian authorities at Niuchwang are enforcing a strict censorship over news messages. This is taken to indicate the possibility of an early retrograd movement on the part of the Russians, who are west of the railroad in conjunction with the force at Niuchwang.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 3.—Lieut.-Gen. Sakharoff, under date of July 2, reports minor outpost affairs and reconnoissances in the neighborhood of Siakhotan.

Gen. Sakharoff believes that dysentery is very prevalent among the Japanese troops.

On June 27 the Russian fire destroyed two Japanese guns and a caisson.

There are fresh indications of a Japanese advance near Siakhotan.

According to the report Russian scouts have ascertained that a number of Korean soldiers are assisting the Japanese.

LIAO-YANG, July 3.—The whole of Manchuria seems to have turned into a marsh and the weather almost precludes a movement by either side.

It is reported that the Japanese are near Liao-Yang, and a battle is expected when the weather permits. The country is such that a few days of sun will dry the roads.

It is reported that 20,000 Japanese are working around toward Mukden, but this is scarcely credited.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The Japanese legation today received the following dispatch from Tokyo:

The chief of staff of the second army telegraphed as follows:

"On the 15th of June a petty officer and other soldiers, six in all, belonging to the Eighteenth infantry regiment, encountered while scouting about 10 Russian troops at Chengtsu-Shan and were killed after hand-to-hand fighting. On the death of these men the Russians thrust their bayonets into their mouths and cut open their lungs and took away the contents of their pockets.

"On the 27th of June, Kobayashi Waichi, a first-class cavalryman belonging to the Third cavalry regiment, who was scouting at a point about four kilometers northeast of Heunyoh-Cheng, was attacked by the Russians and fell dead on the ground. Thereupon about 20 Russian cavalrymen surrounded the dead man and barbariously stabbed his dead body several times. At this moment a company of our cavalry approached the scene and the Russians fled, leaving the body of the man in our hands."

SYRIAN WAS ARRESTED TWICE WITHIN AN HOUR

Mike George, a Syrian of 1014 Webster avenue, was arrested yesterday for firing firecrackers on the street. He was sent to No. 2 station, where he put up a forfeit. It was noticed he did not hurry away from the station house, as do most prisoners, but hung about the patrol stable. A watch was set and a short time later he climbed into the patrol wagon and emerged with a loaded revolver which he had secreted under the seat, after being placed in the wagon. George was rearrested and held without bail as a suspicious person.

Heavy Penalty for Prowling.

Samuel Miller was fined $50 or 60 days to the workhouse, yesterday. He was caught prowling about a house in Sixth avenue.

GENERAL MASSACRE IN PROVINCE OF VAN

Armenian Travelers Are Killed as Revolutionists by Kurds and Turkish Regulars.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, July 4.—In connection with the cablegrams which American Secretary of State Hay received from Ispahan, Persia, July 2, signed by "Armenian Bishops in Persia," saying that "Turkish barbarians were massacring thousands of Armenians," and humbly soliciting the "United States government, in the name of Christianity and humanity, to save innocent lives," the Daily Chronicle this morning prints the following telegram from Tauris, Persia, June 30:

"It is announced from a perfectly reliable source that in the vicinity of Van (a fortified city of Turkish Armenia), on June 24, Kurds and Turkish regulars attacked Armenian travelers, killing them as revolutionists. This is the beginning of a general massacre in the province of Van. The people are in terror."

PRESIDENT HAS QUIET DAY.

Meets Many of His Old Neighbors at Church, but Few Strangers Present.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 3.—(Special.)—In a large three-seated open carriage, President Roosevelt and his family drove down from Sagamore Hill this morning and occupied their family pew in Dr. Washburn's Episcopal church. The congregation was a little larger than usual and as the president left the church he bowed cordially to many of his old neighbors and shook hands with a few as he was getting into the carriage.

A large delegation of New York shop girls, spending their vacation at a summer hotel two miles out of the village, were driven in two farmers' wagons and occupied seats in the rear of the church. Aside from these and were few strangers in the congregation. The rector's sermon was of a patriotic character, but no reference to Mr. Roosevelt or his administration was made.

Tomorrow the big gate at the entrance to the Sagamore Hill road will be closed and chained and the Roosevelt family will devote the day to an old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration.

On Tuesday Secretary Loeb and his staff of clerks will put the executive offices in shape. It is not likely that the president will receive many callers this week.

ORPHANAGE PICNIC PLANS.

Ham Brigade Still Scouring for 1,000 Hams—Advertising Begins Today.

Coadjutor Bishop Canevin was present last night during the meeting of the general committee on the St. Paul's orphanage picnic to be held in Calhoun park July 13 and 14. Bishop Canevin entreated all to aid the cause.

The "ham brigade" reported that they had not received the expected encouragement in supplying 1,000 hams. Two diamond rings are to be offered to the two persons selling the greatest number of tickets. One ring to go to the man and the other to the woman getting the best results.

The advertising committee reported that work would be commenced today sticking up posters and erecting banners throughout the country advertising the picnic. The final meeting of the general committee will be held next Sunday night in Epiphany lyceum.

NUDE MEN ARE CHASED.

Trio of Bathers Driven from Water and Clothes Denied Them.

Residents of Aspinwall on their way to Sunday school were startled yesterday afternoon by the appearance of three men clothed only in nature's garments and pursued by an angry mob. They had been bathing in the Allegheny river and incurred the anger of a crowd of campers who stole their clothing and drove them from the water by hurling stones at them. Friends rushed to the aid of the swimmers, and handing their way back to the camp, recovered their clothes.

Greensburg Store Robbed.

GREENSBURG, PA., July 3.—(Special.)—A gang of robbers broke into the large department store of the John W. Poulins Company, adjoining the Westmoreland county court house, tonight at 8 o'clock, broke open the safe and carried away a lot of notes and other papers running into the thousands in value. The robbers escaped.

Victim of an Old Pistol.

ERIE, PA., July 3.—(Special.)—George Felix was seriously wounded at his home today. With a companion, William Luthwinger, he was trying to fix up an old pistol, a relic of the civil war, with which to celebrate the Fourth, when the weapon was accidently discharged.

COLONELS' BLOOD BOILS FIERCELY

The Democrats of Kentucky Are Rabid Opponents of Bryanism and Hearstism.

NATURE THERE ALONE SERENE

BY JOHN P. COWAN.
(Staff Correspondent.)

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LEXINGTON, KY., July 3.—Kentucky will make its traditional contribution to the chaos which will gravitate around the Democratic convention hall in St. Louis this week. To the discord which will echo from the blatant boasts of Bryanism, Illiism and Gormanism will be added the Kilkenny tones of Gosbelism furnished by Senator "Joe" Blackburn and Gov. J. C. Beckham, who head the Blue Grass delegation. The Kentucky delegates go uninstructed by the great body of their constituents. In the meantime politics militant are gaining headway and every leader, great and small, is volunteering instructions that are both confusing and revolutionary. From the Blue Grass region has been heard the shrill voice of Senator Blackburn, while Henry Watterson in Louisville has soaked his inkwell dry in penning editorials in rabid denunciation of Hearst.

Will Have Little Effect.

Of course all this will have comparatively little effect in the big political drama which will take place in St. Louis. Kentucky has never yet controlled a national convention, and certainly will have little to do in turning the tide of the nomination this time. With her 26 delegates the Bourbon state will be like 26 small drops in an ever-dimely large bucket. But from the colonels' point of view old Kentucky is just as important as New York or Pennsylvania. The colonels concede nothing. They are fighting mad, and the delegation which has assembled in the convention city has left behind a whole stateful of hot-blooded Democrats.

"Kentucky is for Judge Parker," said Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge today. "Kentucky, sir, is for any good iron-ribbed Democrat, and Parker seems at this time to be the best material available. Show us a better man and, by ——, sir, we're for him."

"How about Cleveland?"

"The man we all advocate, if Judge Parker cannot be nominated. The Democracy of Kentucky stands opposed to innovations in the national policy. The Democratic principles of Andrew Jackson—God bless his memory!—are not obsolete. Kentucky is done with Bryanism and its yellow-streaked successor—Hearstism."

No Longer a Factor.

The venerable Col. Breckinridge is no longer counted as holding a strong hand in the game of southern politics, but he stands close to the heart of old school Democracy, and as their mouthpiece, does not hesitate to express his opinions. He was a McKinley man in 1900 and here in Lexington made one of the most memorable speeches of that campaign, calling it honest-minded Democrats to repudiate Bryan in order to rehabilitate the party upon its old lines and to restore time-honored traditions. If the radical Bryan or Hearst factions dictate the Democratic nomination, old Democrats down here will rally again around the Republican standard.

Never did the famous Blue Grass country look more serene in its rural beauty. Never did the broad hemp fields look more promising. The skies today are an azure done that frame the romantic loveliness of the summer landscape. The Kentucky cardinal sings as he never sang before. Prosperity is seemingly apparent everywhere. Never did the blue grass belle ride the white turnpike in more radiant beauty.

Nature Alone Serene.

Never did the romance of this romantic state offer greater inspiration to the visitor who comes down here to share the beauty of her hospitable people. But all this serenity is confined to nature. There is an undercurrent that betokens trouble ahead. In the byways of Lexington old fiddlers are singing a sad melody about "The days of Auld Lang Syne," and when the people lift their voices in chant that classic song, "My Old Kentucky Home," there is a note that indicates that music will be interrupted by the sound of the Winchester if occasion requires.

The Kentucky State Medical association at its meeting this year devoted its time almost exclusively to the discussion of "First Aid in Gunshot Wounds."

Administrator Kills Himself.

ZANESVILLE, O., July 3.—On the same day that he was to have given an accounting of his administration of the estate of the late Clarence Axline of Fulton, both Dr. E. B. Moore, a prominent physician here, was found dead in bed. An investigation shows that he committed suicide.

CHAUTAUQUA

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., July 3.—(Special.)—Sunday was bright and warm and the largest audience of the present season gathered in the amphitheater to hear the first sermon, which was delivered by Dr. Dorchester, Jr., of Pittsburgh. The subject of Dr. Dorchester's sermon was "What Is Thy Name?" and he said in part:

"God sees us as single, distinct, immortal souls. There is a sense in which we all stand single and alone. Nothing and no one can really invade our spirit. It is peculiarly our own. This spirit within us stretches back to eternity and reaches forward to eternity. Birth, life and death are individual matters. The resurrection is individual. We live together as relatives, friends and neighbors, there is constant intercourse—a circulation of thought and feeling and kindly offices—but there is a great gulf fixed between one soul and another, which can never be crossed. Each is a master of his own choices, and determines his own destiny. God not only sees us as single souls, but he discerns what we are. There are two souls in each and everyone of us, as there were in Jacob. There is what the Bible calls the natural man, the self when is of earth, earthy. The self whose aims and activities and affections are carnal. There is a dangerous energy constantly at work within us which seeks to defile us and bear us away from God. Then, there is the spiritual man, the self which bears the image of God, the self of conscience, faith and love, the self which feeds upon divine truth, seeks to have the divine character enshrined in its heart, the self which aspires to God and prevails with him, as Jacob did with the angel. God is our creator, and not Adam. Adam, even with a twist in the wrong direction; but we need not so that way unless we choose. God continually seeks to establish and direct our doings. It is in our natural life we stumble and fall. The real self in man, that part which makes him man and not animal, is God. The animal may gain the ascendency, but it then becomes a successful rebel, not the rightful sovereign. When we are weak, when our cherished schemes have failed or are humbled, then God comes most fully into our lives."

The Sunday school services were held at 3 o'clock in Hiawatha hall. Sacred song service was given this evening in the amphitheater.
